DROPPED HER FAMILY.

A Nebraska Woman's Efforts to Get Out of Sight. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Annie M. Gardner, the delegate to the Christian Endeavor convention who so mysteri-ously disappeared, is not dead. The knowledge of this fact will be a source of relief to the husband in Arcadia, Neb., to whom she wrote just previous to her disappearance to the effect that she was dying and to whom some person, signing the name of "G. A. Brown," afterwards wrote, describing the death and burial of Mrs. Gardner.

It has been discovered that Mrs. Gardner, instead of stopping in South Boston during the convention, stopped in Cambridge under an assumed name. She traveled under the name of Dorothy Mansfield and was known by no other name during her stay in Boston. Everything now points to a deliberate plan on the part of the woman, from the time she reached Boston, to abandon her husband and three children and to begin life anew under a new name. This is the more peculiar because her domestic life was supposed to be especially happy.

Mrs. Gardner's next move appears to have been to apply at a well-known teachers' agency for a position. She selected one of the places which was teachers agency for a position. She selected one of the places which was open and made arrangements to leave at once for that place, which was in Connecticut. She then appears to have written the pathetic letter to her husband telling him that she was ill and commending him and the children to the care of God. The next day she appears to have gone to a clerk in a stationery store and had him write the letter signed "G. A. Brown," telling of the death and burial of Mrs. Gardner. With her family thus disposed of Mrs. Gardner sold her return ticket to Nebraska to a scalper, bought a ticket and had her trunk checked at the New York and New England depot and dropped out of sight. So far as can be ascertained, there was no man in the case. The persons engaged in the search expect to locate the woman soon.

(DETROIT (Mich.,) Aug. 6.—The Detroit Drydock Company has practically closed a contract with the Russian government for the construction of three car ferries to cross Lake Baikel, in the middle of Siberia, and thus connect the two ends of the great trans-Siberian rallroad. Each of the boats will cost at least $500,000. It will be the largest contract ever taken by lake ship-builders. The noted ice-crushing qualities of the St. Ignace and Ste. Marie, the Mackinaw transfer boats built by the Detroit company, is what called the attention of the Russians to this type of car ferries.

authorities in Canada. The hearing was adjourned on Friday last until today, at the finish of the argument of F. B. Newcomb on behalf of the Dominion of Canada. The appeal is against a judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada, January 15, 18%, and questions touching upon the right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors is also raised.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Edwin Blake, Q.C., M.P., who is watching the case in the interest of the Brewers' and Distillers' Association of Ontario, occupied the whole day in arguing that the appeal should be dismissed. Blake contended that the Northern America act gave the Dominion Parliament exclusive control of the regulations of trade and commerce through the Dominion. The government, moreover, he continued, depended largly upon th money raised by duties upon alcoholic liquors for the revenue with which to enable it to meet public obligations. The hearing of the appeal was again adjourned.

The Washington Grand Jury Will Investigate Miss Flagler.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—There is no doubt whatever now that the grand jury which will meet in September will take cognizance of the killing of Ernest Green by Miss Flagler, the daughter of Brig. Gen. Flagler, U. S. A. From statements made by members of the coroner's jury which discharged her from custody, they did so on the ground that the shooting had not been attended with murderous intent and that when they rendered their verdict it was the general belief that the grand jury should take the matter of her indictment under consideration, as that body was in a better position to ascertain the facts and the law in such cases as they had to dispose of.

One of the members of the jury has made a statement that after the verdict had been made up and signed by the jury the attorney for Miss Flagler was admitted to the jury-room and permitted by the coroner to amend the verdict so as to completely exonerate Miss Flagler and relieve her from further investigation by the grand jury.

Asst. Disk Atty. Taggart says that the case of Miss Flagler, who shot and killed the boy Green last Saturday, would be taken before the grand jury when it assembles on September 9 next.

Horr and Harvey on the Debate.

The Points Made by the Two Disputants,

Each Claims He Has Gained a Victory Over His Opponent.

"Silver Dick" Gets Control of the Missouri Convention—The Fort Worth Camp-meeting — The Free Silverites Convene.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Following is the umming up of the Horr-Harvey debate made by the principals themselves. The summary by Roswell G.

"The object of this debate was to determine if it would be wise for our nation to throw open its mints to the coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, when the civilized nations of he world refused to join in such action. My opponent proposed to prove that such course is advisable, and undertook to do it on the lines laid down in 'Coin's Financial School.' I denied the advisability of such action, and attacked the teachings of that book from the title page to the close. The debate is finished, and how does the

"Mr. Harvey admits that the book is oure fiction. He repudiates its motto by declaring that it does not mean what it says. His statement that primary money only is the measure of value he has not even attempted to sustain, though his proof has called for repeatedly.

"His statement that the people of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries were in the most 'degraded condition of serfdom and slavery' on account of the lack of metallic money has been completely demolished.

"He based his whole argument on the proposition that the silver dollar was in 1792 made the only unit of measure of value. I have shown conclusively that our forefathers attempted to establish bimetallism and provided for two units of value, one of gold and one of silvers always regular gold. one of silver, always naming gold first, and that up to 1834 the silver standard alone was used; that after the gold standard came into use, and the gold standard came into use, and since that the silver dollar has never for a day been used as the measure of value in the United States. No nation has ever succeeded in actually using two standards at the same time.

"Mr. Harvey next based his case when the assumption that the law of upon the assumption that the law of 1873 was a crime, and stated that it nad its origin in fraud and its birth nad its origin in fraud and its birth through bribery and corruption. He placed himself upon four propositions to prove his case:

"First—He claimed that the Congresses of the United States were purchased; that the passage of the bill was procured by the money capitalists of this and other nations.

of this and other nations.

"Secondly—He stated that the bill passed both houses all right and was changed by some clerk in its enrollment. He next claimed that it was not changed by a clerk, but that the dirty work was done in conference committee "He then showed that none of his other statements are true, but that the work was done by the passage of a substitute bill." He introduced no evidence in support of either proposition and he stands convicted of making every one of these charges without any proof that would be recognized in any ordinary court of justice.

"If the Congress of the United States was bribed to pass a bad bill, then the bill must have first passed in had shape. Now if that be true then then the bill must have first passed in bad shape. Now, if that be true, then there would be no need of a clerk to do the dirty work. If it was done by the enrolling clerk, then it follows that Congress passed the bill as it ought to have been, and consequently they could not have done what they were bribed to do. Again, if Congress passed the bill all right, and the enrolling clerk enrolled it correctly, then the bribery could apply only to the members of the conference committee. All these villainies are then abandoned members of the conference committee.
All these villainies are then abandoned when he claims that the whole thing was accomplished by means of a 'substitute bill.' He introduced no evidence in support of any one of these positions. Thus he stands convicted by his own statements of an effort to dehis own statements of an effort to de ceive the people.

"I submit that such conflicting allegations demonstrate beyond a question that Mr. Harvey has attempted to sus-tain his position in regard to the law of 1873 by pure fiction and without calling to his aid a single established fact. It is conclusive that if he had proof of any one of his four proposi-tions, he never would have introduced the other three. It is useless, then, to waste more words on the matter which is manifestly so absurd.

REV STEWART'S LAST LETTER.

diminishing the value of the unit with which prices are measured. Both results cannot follow.

"Mr. Harvey fails entirely to prove that the use of one metal as the measure of value is an experiment. History proves that the use of a single standard is the only means by which both metals can be kept in circulation. It is the only way to secure a stable measure of value and thus maintain practical bimetallism. It is based on scientific principles, and wherever attempts have been made to use both, the cheaper has always driven the dearer out of circulation, which has resulted in practical monometallism, always leaving the cheaper metal only in use.

"The gold unit is not responsible for the fall in prices. The prices of labor and property, when taken together, have not declined. It is not true that the fall in prices when brought about by natural causes, benefits only the money-lender. Such cheapening of products benefits all who consume what they do not produce.

These facts utterly annihilate the claim that gold has appreciated.

During the discussion Mr. Harvey cites Roman history with its many evils. But he inadvertently makes an admission as to the great value of banking facilities which refutes all his other assertions against such systems. After portraying the bad condition existing in the Roman empire, he says:

During this debate Mr. Harvey frequently put me off with the statement that during the discussion he would satisfactorily answer my objections, and then failed to mention that part of the subject again. Such failure is proof that he could not make successful answers: During the fifth day of the debate Mr. Harvey challenged me to name more than the one error in his book which I had pointed out and which he admitted. On the sixth day I pointed out eight glaring misstatements, none of which he successfully denied.

Mr. Harvey gave the foreign indebtedness of this country as more than three times the real amount. He has again and again been called out to tell when and how that vast amount could have come without some record of the transaction. He has utterly failed to account for the arrival of this vast sum, which is a confession that his statement is groundless and only used to misrepresent the condition of his country. His fixed table of debts is composed of a doubling up real debts and is a slander on the actual condition of the American people. tual condition of the American people Mr. Harvey virtually admits that the action which he proposed will place this nation on a silver basis and drive gold nation on a silver basis and drive gold out of the country. His statement that the gold dollar should be cut down until its value be no more than the commercial value of the silver in the standard dollar, is a complete admission of this point. Hence, I have a right to assume that his plan contemplates such a result.

I showed conclusively that this would work injury to 17,000,000 neonle who

I showed conclusively that this would work injury to 17,000,000 people who work for wages. I also showed that the injury would extend to all pensioners, savings and other bank depositors and the holders of insurance policies aggregating 12,000,000 of people and of every person in the United States who has any money except gold coin.

What has Mr. Harvey said to disprove my statements? Not one word. On the contrary he has shown that benefits will come to no people except silver-mine owners and insolvent debtors. I submit to the people of this republic that they should never permit threats of revolution to induce them to adopt wholesale repudiation. The civilized world is clearly adopt wholesale repudiation. The civilized world is clearly on my side of

I protest against any attempt to lead this republic into the camp of the half-civilized and barbarous nations of the world. Let us rather remain and work to be many with people who have in harmony with people who have large experience and sound business large experience and sound business sense.

In his summary, Harvey says:
"The debate settles in my judgment the following propositions:
"First. That gold and silver are the money of the constitution. Mr. Horr did not contravert this and I left it with Daniel Webster's statements to that effect. The main strength underlying this proposition is the knowledge of the merits of bi-metallism as disclosed by the whole debate. As token money, silver performs none of the functions intended by the Constitution. Since this debate the press dispatches report the Supreme Court of Ohio as deciding that a municipality cannot issue bonds payable in gold alone; that since this debate the press dispatches report the Supreme Court of Ohio as deciding that a musicipality cannot issue bonds payable in gold alone; that such bonds should be payable in either gold or silver. If that court has done so, it has clearly decided rightly. There is no doubt in my mind but that the United States Supreme Court would have decided unconstitutional the act of 1873 if it had been so understood as a practical business that that act in effect had destroyed the function of money residing in silver. The circulation of that metal as token money is wherein it has worked a deception. What the United States Supreme Court would do now is more doubtful, as I am inclined to think that they are, as a whole, as much under the influence of the bondholders as the Supreme Court of 1860 was under the influence of slaveholders. A test case would now probably result in a Dred Scott decision. I do not mean to express prejudice, but in view of the events of the last two years I cannot help but believe that official despotism has already set in and that most of our public officials are now unconsciously the willing servants of the money-lending power. If a majority of the Supreme Court are thus afflicted, as I fear, it could not take the broad statesmanship view of this question required.

"Second—That the silver dollar has the unit of value in our coinage system fixed by the act of 1792. Mr. Horr admits this.

"Third—That silver and gold both were the measures of values of our roperty until 1873 and the debtor had a shit to pay in either metal.

"Fourth—That the act of 1873 was irreputiously passed. A letter from extry-Gen. Pierpont, under President rant, to Hon. George Merrick, Denver, olo., stating that Gen. Grant told him at he was deceived by the act of 1873, in my possession and it will cause to be printed and get general circuition.

is in my possession and it will equegit to be printed and get-general circulation.

"Fifth—That for all time of which we have knowledge, gold and silver were treated equally, as money; both had a right to enter the mints in all the countries of the world until 1816, when England closed her mints to silver and 1872-74, when the United States, Germany, France and the Latin Union follows. And until 1873-74 the commercial values of the two metals were substantially at a parity with the legal ratio. That this condition made both metals available for use as primary money and the demand for primary money was relieved by the volume of both metals. "Sixth—That prices of all property are now measured in gold alone and are substantially at the present time one-half what they would be under the bimetallic system, Mr. Horr frequently substantially makes this admission.

"Seventh, that there were $143,000,000 in silver coined in our mints prior to 1873, all of which coined prior to 1853 was primary money, and since 1853 the silver dollars were primary money, and by virtue of the right of silver to be coined, and to share equally with gold the demand for money. Thet all the silver coined since February 12, 1873, has been token money representing gold, is not exerting any influence as a measure of values, and is not performing the functions of primary money.

"Eighth, I believe that those who read and carefully digest the debate will conclude that I have made good all the propositions set forth in my opening statement; that Mr. Horr found no errors in "Coin"s, Financial School, except the paragraph on page 9, where it stated the silver coined prior to 1873 was $105,000,000, which we both agree should read $143,000,000."

In conclusion Harvey says:

"And now, excepting three hundred words I shall use to reply to Mr. Horr's cept the paragraph on page 9, where it stated the silver coined prior to 1873 was $165,000,000, which we both agree should read $143,000,000."

In conclusion Harvey says:
"And now, excepting three hundred words I shall use to reply to Mr. Horr's summary, I am closing this debate. The object sought by discussing questions affecting the welfare of the human welfare is to see wherein we can advance the general conditions of the people and detect errors in civilization. The world, time out of mind, has had business panics, and most men and women's lives have been full of troubles in acquiring the necessities and comforts of life. That our present civilization has not removed the possibility of these recurring panics and that to a large majority of the people on this sarth their almost exclusive attention and labors are given to acquiring a living with, in some instances, indifferent and discouraging results, will be admitted by everyone. I once supposed that labor-saving improvements and inventions would leasen the necessary toil of man and was a promise of a day to come when with little labor all would be provided for and humanity as a whole would be benefitted. Has it had that result?

"All will answer that it has not. The lines of demarkation between the rich and poor are more marked than ever, and the percentage of people who devote all their time in a struggle for existence is greater now than at any time known to modern history. This will not be dealed by any but the selfish few, whose wants being supplied know nothing of the wants of others.

"And yet, if there were no defect in our civilization, inventions will but have the effect first intended for them. We are sufficiently advanced now in this respect to provide all the people of the world with the comforts of life by one hour's work each day, by each individual, while the remaining hours not devoted to sleep would be used in the promotion of human happiness and the advancement of the human race. That the passage-way to a new enventions, education and all and genius, is the civilization or numanity. To own thousands of acres as does Lord Scully in this State, inhabited by tenants whose labor supports, him: in riotous living is a law born of property interests and not of humanity.

erty interests and not of humanity.

"It is this era of selfishmess that made it possible for selfish men, who, in their own interest, demonetized silver and increased 4he value of their holdings as measured in other people's property. And as money is a thing every one must have, these dealers in money have thus been enabled to mortgage the producers of the world to them, which by its own self operation will bring on a crisis. If the people will act unselfishly, intelligently in this crisis we will learn secrets in the science of civilization heretofore hidden from us, that will result in the dawn of a new era in the history of the world and the passage from the present crude and commercial age into a new era and brighter civilization beyond."

In his rejoinder, Horr says:

from the present crude and commercial age into a new era and brighter civilization beyond."

In his rejoinder, Horr says:
"I stated that when either a gold or a silver unit is being used as a measure of value, the one so used can never be above or below par. When one is quoted at a premium it is never in actual use, but is measured by the other which is in use. This is self-evident. Mr. Harvey took two days to discuss a crime which never existed and had no time to defend many errors in his book repeatedly pointed out and which he promised to explain later. He now tells what wonders he would have done had he not been driven from his essays which he calls his regular order.

"While preparing his summary, it occurred to him that there is one honorable body in the United States which he has not villified. the Supreme Court. Hence, he goes out of his way to slander the tribunal bent upon his general plan to prove that there is nothing but rottenness in his republic. Nowhere in the debate or summary has he shown the advisability of this nation freely coining silver at 16 to 1, nor can he do ft. His summary, like his debate, attempts to disparage honest industry, thrift am solvency.

"His whole system is at war with the beat achievements of civilization and clearly aims at the destruction of law, individual development and social order, if need be through the revolution. His whole case rests on an indictment against humanity and he was unable to detect anything but bad doors in a world full of sweet fragrance. Out upon such wicked-misrepresentation.

"I have shown that Mr. Harvey is develue his life to deceiving the people and that such boys as Coin' are fitly described in Paslim liviti, 3: "They go stars as soon as they he horn, speak-lies.""

As were a constituted in Paslim liviti, 3: "They go stars as soon as they he horn, speak-lies.""

Not as much as silver was from 1834 to 1862. He is greatly mixed as to the order which 1 presented the crime of 1873. My claim was that the bill was surreptitiously passed, not that any one was bribed. This I fully sustained so strongly that no one can reasonably doubt there was corruption.

The book by Suess was written in 1891 and the reader by turning to pages 99 and 190 of the book on coinage laws, has statistics to answer his $380,000,000 gold-coinage statement. Couple also with this the further fact that a large percentage of the gold used in the arts are guaranteed coins. I now submit the whole controversy to the intelligence of the American people."

MISSOURI CONQUERED. PERTLE SPRINGS (Mo.,) Aug. 6.-Free silver has conquered in Missouri as it did in Illinois, and the fears expressed late last night and early this morning that there would be strife and turmoil in today's convention were not borne out.

The so-called gold or "sound money" borne out.

The so-called gold or "sound money" advocates were so overwhelmed by the superior generalship and numerical strength of the free-silver leaders and forces that they made but a very faint effort to stay the onslaught of the white-metal adherents. Bland sald in opening the convention that the Democrats of Missouri had assembled to adopt resolutions for the free coinage of silver, and to select a State committee which would be in sympathy with the popular will, and, how well his prophecy was carried out the result of today's convention tells.

The report of the Committee on Permanent Organization, which practically snows under the old committee, was adopted with but one or two dissenting voices. That of the resolutions calling for free and unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1, regardless of any foreign nation, was carried with a hurrah and expedition seldom seen in any convention, and, furthermore, men were selected to nominate delegates favorable to silver to the National Democratic Convention of 1896. As a whole the friends of silver are feeling happy tonight and congratulations are in order.

While waiting for the Committee on Resolutions to report the time was taken up in speech-making, ex-Con-

While waiting for the Committee on Resolutions to report the time was taken up in speech-making, ex-Congressman Hatch and Hon. M. E. Benton addressing the convention. The most remarkable portion of Benton's address was his reference to the gold advocates. He said: "Every gold advocate in the State of Missouri is either a usurer, an office-holder or aman with large prospects for an office." At 4:40 c'clock the Committee on Resolutions reported thee platform as follows:

"The Democrats of Missouri in State convention assembled make the following declaration on the monetary question, which has been forced into the leading place among the issues of the day. The Federal Constitution names silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States. The first coinage law passed by Congress under silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States. The first coinage iaw passed by Congress under the Constitution made the silver dollar the unit of value and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio measured by the silver-unit dollar.

"From the beginning of the government, following a policy formulated by Thomas Jefferson and firmly established by Jackson, the Democratic party has been the party of bimetallism, favoring the free coinage of both silver and gold at the national mints and opposed to farming out to the banking corporations the government's sovereign power of issuing and controlling the money of the people. The act of 1873 demonetizing silver was surreptitiously passed, without the approval or knowledge of the American people, and from the time when the effect of this act in fastening upon the country the single gold standard was understood, the Democratic party, has consistently urged that the grievous wrong be righted.

"Fallure to accomplish this object has resulted in the steady appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the price of the commodities produced by the people, a heavy increase in the burden of all debts, public and private, the enrichment of the money-lending class, paralysis of industry and impoverishment of the people and unexampled distress in all gold-standard countries. Extress in all gold-standard countries. ment of the people and unexampled distress in all gold-standard countries. Experience has shown that while, under the single gold standard there may be an occasional revival of business activity accompanied by enhanced prices of a limited number of commodities, such revival is due to artificial and temporary causes and cannot permanently alleviate the sufferings due to the falling of prices brought about by the appreciation of gold and an inadequate supply of primary or redemption money. Duty to the people requires that the party of the people continue the battle for bimetallism until efforts are crowned with success: therefore be it Duty to the people requires that the party of the people continue the battle for bimetallism until efforts are crowned with success; therefore be it "Resolved, that we the Democratic party of Missouri, in convention assembled, demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into primary, or redemption money at the ratio of 16.to.1 without waiting for the action or approval of any other nation; and, second, "Resolved, that we are irrevocably opposed to the substitution for metallic money of a panic-breeding corporation credit currency based on a single metal, the supply of which is so limited that it can be cornered at any time by a few banking institutions in Europe and America; third, "Resolved, that we are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option reserved by the law to 'the government of redeeming of its obligations in either silver coin or gold coin; fourth, "Resolved, that we are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace and especially are we opposed to placing the treasury of the government under the control of any syndicate of bankers and the issuance of bonds to be sold by them at an enormous profit for the purpose of supplying the Federal treasury with gold to maintain the policy of gold monometallism."

The resolutions were adopted with a whoop. Additional resolutions were presented and adopted, authorizing the chairman of the convention to appoint delegates from each Congress district to attend a conference in Washington, August 14, as recommended by Senators Turple, Harris and Jones; that the State Central Committee be requested to call a State convention to be held not later than April 15, 1886, in St. Louis, to select delegates to the National Democratic Convention to be held not later than April 15, 1886, in St. Louis, to select delegates to the National Personal Convention at Port Worth. Tex., and Mississippl City. Miss. After selecting the State Central Committee, nin tainty. The Bland forces had not in any way abated their efforts for a change in the State Central Committee and the silver question seemed to have been lost sight of in the fight for a new committee, or at least such additions thereto as will place the silver men in control of the machinery of the State Democracy. The arrival of the St. Louis delegation early this morning brought a new element of uncertainty. The State Central Committee met at 9:15.0 clock and selected "Bilver Dick" Bland as temporary chairman.

Lew Love of Springfield was made secretary. These nominations were ratified and the committee immediately adjourned. This move of adjourning without taking action on rumored committee changes was taken to be the plan of the "sound money" men to throw the onus of whatever trouble may arise in the Democratic ranks onto the silver men. United States Senator Cockrell had an all-night session with the leading members of the State Central Committee in an endeavor to close the breach which seemed to be widening with each hour. Cockrell is on the "conservative" side, working for harmony. He suggested that a resolution be introduced in the convention giving the State Central Committee iron-clad instructions as to their duties during the State Central Committee iron-clad instructions as to their duties during the State central Committee present, however, were opposed to such action, and when the meeting adjourned no progress had been made toward cementing the contending factions.

The convention was formally called to order at noon by John P. Carroll After praper by Rev. Dr. Barry, Carroll made a few remarks, which had a tendency to harmonize the contending factions.

Bland congratulated the Democratic party upon the auspiclous gathering of the Democrats of Missouri, he said, sent greetings to the Democrats for action upon the free-silver question. He said the Democrats of Missouri, he said, sent greetings to the Democration saiready made on this subject. "We have met to declare for the free-colnage of silver at rensburg entertained the convention with free-silver songs.

Col. W. F. Switzer of Boonville, representing the free-silver Democratic editors of Missouri, who met at Sedalla recently, then addressed the convention, pledging the support of the editors in the fight for the white metal. After Col. Switzer had concluded his remarks the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock without contention with regard to the State Central Committee having made its appearance. The convention will probably work tonight.

After the convention adjourned the Committee on Permanent Organization decided to make the temporary organization permanent. Then the wedge which may end by dividing the party in Missouri was inserted in the way of a resolution providing for increasing the number of State Committeemen. The resolution adds one member from each Congress district and four-atlarge. The chairman is to be hereafter selected by the regular State nominating convention. The resolution was unanimously adopted in committee. Nothing was done by the Committee on Resolutions during the recess.

The convention convened promptly at 2 o'clock, then the temporary organization was made permanent. The resolution to increase the State Central Committee were read. Objections were quickly made from two or three quarters and call for division was demanded. The question was finally decided, and the vote on the proposition to increase the committee was ordered. The resolution to had such an easy victory, the report as a whole was then adopted. The Committee on Resolutions not being ready to report, the convention took a short recess.

The audience rose with vociferous cheering when Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone entered. The Duke of Westminster, chairman, read a letter from the Marquis of Salisbury, the new premier, notifying the Duke that the sum of £1000, subscribed for the relief of the Armenians, had been forwarded to the British ambassador at Constantinople, Sir Phillip Curry, who had been given full discretion as to the manner in which the money should be distributed. After the usual preliminaries, Gladstone rose, amid an outburst of enthusiasm.

He said that the Armenian question was not a party matter or a religious affair. The present situation in Armenia resulted from intolerably bad government, perhaps the worst on the face of the earth. He read a resolution to the leffect that the meeting expresses the conviction that Her Majesty's government will have the cordial support of the entire nation, without distinction of party in any measure in order to secure for Armenians such forms of administration in the province as provide effective guarantees for the safety of life, honor, religion and property, and no reforms can be effected without the continuous control of European powers.

sion and property, and no reforms can be effected without the continuous control of European powers.

Gladstone then said that the resolution was moderate and expressed not only his own sentiments, but those of their transatiantic brethren, who felt even more strongly than did these present that the dispassionate inquiry which was made after the Sassoun massacre showed that the power of language did not suffice to describe the outrages which made the blood run cold. rages which made the blood run cold.

(Applause.)
Inquiry, he continued, verified all the sickening details not only of European, but of American testimony, which was doubly entitled to credit, as America, politically, had no interest in the Levant. This testimony, said Gladstone with great energy, summed up into four words, was: "Plunder, murder, rape, torture." "But." added Gladstone, "plunder and murder were comparatively mild beside the work of the ravisher and torturer. This is not the work of the dangerous classes," continued Gladstone, "but of the government at Constantinople and its agents, and there is not one of their deeds for which the government is not responsible."

out on a beat of seven miles to windward, then had a full reach of the same distance and finally a run home before the wind for seven miles more. In the first two legs the Defender easily showed her superiority.

When the Defender and Vigilant were jockeying for position to cross the line, the big yachts came pretty close together. Both were on the starboard tack, so there was no question as to which had the right-of-way, excepting by the rule that the overhauling vessel should yield. In this case the Defender was the overhauling vessel should yield. In this case the Defender was the overhauling vessel, but the Vigilant as she did off Sandy Hook eased off and avoided what might possibly have been a collision.

In the race for the Queen's cup in the regatta of the Royal Yacht squadron today, over a distance of about fifty miles, the Britannia had a sail-over.

Emperor William boarded his yacht, Meteor, formerly the Scotch cutter Thistle, which was defeated by the Volunteer in 1887 in the race for the America's cup. His Majesty was dressed in yachting costume, and intended to start with his yacht in the race for the Queen's cup. Stephanie's bowsprit and the latter retired.

The Niagara won the twenty-raterrace. Later it was learned that the failure of the Meteor to start in the race for the Queen's cup was due to the fact that a gale was blowing, and the Meteor was not a match for the Britannia in such a sea.

During the morning Emperor William boarded the German warship Worth, it being the anniversary of the battle of Worth, and made a speech. He pointed out how the battle of Worth was the beginning of the campaign in which the union of the German races had already found expression. The Prince of Prussia called for three cheers for His Majesty, and they were heartily given.

The Rocky Mountain Savings Bank of Denver Assigns.

DENVER, Aug. 6.—The Rocky Mountain Savings Bank closed its doors to-day, an assignment being made to Earl M. Cranster for the benefit of creditors. No statement of the assets and liabilities have yet been made. Last week a demand was made upon the bank for $28,000 of county funds on deposit in it, and it was unable to pay. This bank closed during the panic of 1893, but subsequently reopened, a certificate being issued to depositors. The president is Frank Woodbury, son of R. W. Woodbury, president of the Union National Bank, which suspended last week, and the two institutions were intimately associated in business.

F. S. Woodbury, president of the Recky Mountain Savings Bank, this afternoon made the following statement in regard to the fallure:

"The troubles that have crowded upon us during the past seven business days, beginning with the fallure of the Union National, followed by the agitation over the county treasurer's affair, and accompanied by damaging reports in some of the newspapers, have simply broken us down.

"We have paid off all the deposits except about $58,000; some of the stockholders are responsible men of means and it is my intention to devote all my personal efforts to help the depositors until all are paid; I therefore consider it absolutely certain that every claim will ultimately be satisfied. None of the officers or employees of the bank have ever borrowed a cent from the institution."

CLARK MAKES SOME DENIALS. BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Charles Cairk, the missing witness in the case of Theodore Durrant, to be tried in San Francisco for murder, was interviewed just before his departure for the West tonight. He emphatically declared that he knew absolutely nothing that had any bearing on the murders, and that because of casual remark the lawyers for the defense had sought to stay proceedings by the use of his name. He said he did not know Durrant and never saw him.

One of the murdered girls, Blanche Lamont, he knew by sight, but he had never met her in fact. He had seen her on a street car with a young man and he had made a remark to that effect to a lawyer. The outcome has been that he is figuring as an important witness. He had thought it over for days and had concluded that it was fully two or three weeks before the murder when he last saw the girl and that her companion was not Durrant. the United States Supreme Court should have changed his mind within a few weeks upon a matter of law, but it is not many months since the whole court changed their mind on such a matter, and that in the course of a few days.

The case before the court was one arising out of a customs decision at this port, and the counsel arguing against the decision of the customhouse was a New York lawyer, then for the first time before the Supreme Court. The case turned mainly upon the question whether an article of importation should or should not be classed as a sauce. The customhouse had called it a sauce and taxed it accordingly. The government maintained this contention, and of course the New York lawyer sought to show that the article should not be classed as a sauce.

When the Supreme Court came to York lawyer sought to show that the article should not be classed as a sauce.

When the Supreme Court came to consult upon the case their unanimous opinion was favorable to the contention of the government, and one of the Justices was instructed to prepare a decision in favor of the customhouse. The Justice, on returning home, told his wife of the case and indicated the ground of the decision, whereupon the lady told him in plain words that the Justices of the Supreme Court did not know what they were talking about and had agreed upon an unjust decision. The lady was entirely clear that the article in dispute could not properly be called a sauce, and openly ridiculed the court.

The perplexed Justice, instead of preparing the decision in accordance with the instructions of his brethren, did nothing in the matter, but at the next opportunity unfolded to the other Justices his wife's view of the matter, and asked them to seek domestic counsel on the case and report at the next consultation of the court when that consultation from the remining counsel, all reported aginst their original view that the article involved in the case should be classed as a sauce, and accordingly the Justice originally charged with the task of preparing a decision in favor of the government was now instructed to prepare on in favor of the New York lawyer's client. It thus happened that the lawyer won his first case before the Supreme Court because the wives of the Justices knew more than the court Itself.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SPRING VALLEY, (III.,) Aug. 6.-SPRING VALLEY, (III..) Aug. 6.—
The situation is very quiet in the city.
The negroes are making no efforts to get back. The reports of armed negroes coming from Peoria and Chicago to avenge Sunday's affair caused no unusual excitement here. They would have not only the Italian miners to deal with, but every white miner in the city as well... numbering about two Ladd and Toluca this morning promis-ing the whites all the assistance necessary in case of an invasion. In case of an invasion 5000 more white miners could be mustered together in this city in less than two hours. They do not express the least sorrow over the event of Sunday. They claim to have endured the outrages of the blacks as long as they could.

long as they could.

They claim that the newspaper stories of negroes being shot and maimed are largely overdrawn. About ten to twelve were assaulted with sticks or stones, but no attempts were made to kill. Had the mob been so disposed not one could have escaped. The prime object, as stated on the ground while the fighting was at its height, was to scare them into leaving, never to come back again.

A meeting of miners was held today. Several papers were denounced for their highy-colored and distorted stories. One newspaper special correspondent was compelled to flee from the town yesterday and has not returned. It was the middle class and the business men who ordered him to leave, so enraged were they at his sensational reports.

Mayor Delmago received an anonymous letter this morning, postmarked Chicago, threatening to wipe him and the entire city out of existence if he did not use his position to get the blacks back again. No doubt trouble will again break out if they make an attempt to come back. The Spring Velley Coal Company have representatives at Seatonville trying to persuade the blacks to return, but the latter are satisfied to keep away.

The miners are still idle, Five o'clock long as they could.

They claim that the newspaper

tives at Seatonville trying to persuade the blacks to return, but the latter are satisfied to keep away.

The miners are still idle. Five o'clock tonight was the time given the negroes to get their effects out of Spring Valley. Nearly all their furniture has been moved to Seatonville, where most of the men are getting work. Gov. Altgeld wired to Mayor Delmago today asking particulars. The Mayor telegraphed this reply:

"Every effort has been made by the municipal authorities of this city to protect life and property. No lives have been lost, nor, has the property been destroyed. One Italian resident has been fatally injured by the negro highwaymen. Everything quiet and membraner in the seaton and insisted on remaining. They are not seriously hurt."

Information is received tonight that the Governor is on his way here and a mass-meeting of miners will be held when he arrives.

REPORTS OF REFUGEES. CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Two colored women, Mrs. Mary Stanton and Mrs. women, Mrs. Mary Stanton and Mrs. Lizzle Dixdee, refugees from Spring Valley, arrived in this dity tonight and the reports they gave of the treatment of the colored people at that place have inflamed the negroes of Chicago to the highest pitch. Mrs. Stanton is a widow and since the attack by the Italians on the colored men at Spring Valley her two sons have disappeared and she believes that they were murdered. Mrs. Dixdee has heard nothing from her husband since that time.

The mass-meeting of colored men reconvened this evening at Arlington Hall. The stories told by the women inflamed them and all manner of violent threats were made against the Hall. The stories told by the women inflamed them and all manner of violent threats were made against the Italians at Spring Valley. For the first time during the day the proposed moving on Spring Valley took definite steps, and committees were appointed to raise funds to secure arms.

There was much excitement at the afternoon-mass-meeting, when a telegram was read from Gov. Altgeld saying that the officials of Spring Valley and Bureau county had not asked for ald, and if they did it would be promptly sent. This did not suit the colored men at all and the most warnlike language was used. Finally cooler counsel prevailed and it was decided to give the Governor time to act. A delegation called on Gen. Merritt to ask that United States troops be sent to Spring Valley. He told the committee that in the event of the fallure of the civil authorities to protect the colored people of Spring ure of the civil authorities to protect the colored people of Spring Valley the fact should be communicated to President Cleveland by telegraph, but he did not anticipate that it would be necessary for the national government to take any steps in the natter. WILL PROTECT THE NEGROES. CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—"Every step taken by those Italians," said Frank Milligan, Chicago agent for the Spring Milligan, Chicago agent for the Spring Valley Coal Company, "only makes the company more determined to protect the negroes. The trouble at Spring Valley, where the late riots between the Italians and negro miners have taken place is not new at all, and just recently it has been apparent that matters were coming to a crisis. The hatred between the two races has grown more bitter, and then these Italians seize upon any opportunity to wreak their vengeance for the acts of two or three men on the whole negro colony. The company will protect the negroes, you may be sure of that, because it has more faith in them than in the Italians.

"The negroes work much better than the Italians and make better miners. They are more faithful and their conduct has won most of the miners to them. The company will not discharge the negroes so as to conciliate the Italians. On the other hand, if the Italians do not behave themselves, they may be out of work. That is the stand the company takes."

VIOLENT AND DETERMINED.
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Five hundred excited negroes in mass-meeting today adopted resolutions demanding that Gov. Altgeld protect the colored people of Spring Valley, Ill., and asserting their determination to leave for that place tonight in the event of the retusal of the Governor to take action. The speeches were violent and determined.

The colored people decided to send a committee of four to Spring Valley to report on the situation. The committee was expected to reach the mines at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and it was decided that if they reported by telegraph that their brethren were not being properly protected by the State authorities an organised company of rescuers would leave Chicago at 4:30 o'clock and go directly to aid the colored miners. A white lawyer named Waters attempted to advise moderation and was promptly thrown through a window. The Italian Consul asked that police prevent the men from leaving the city. Mayor Swift and Chief Badenoch held a conference and it was decided that if the colored men attempted to board a train for Spring Valley they would be stopped by policemen.

CHICAGO. Aug. 7.—Fifty colored men left at 12:25 o'clock this morning for Spring Valley. They go to investigate the trouble between members of their race and the Italians. At first it was resolved to send 200 armed men to the scene, but calmer counsel prevalled, and the fifty were deputized to spy out the land and see if justice could not be secured without an appeal to violence.

THE PEORIA BLACKS. PEORIA (III.,) Aug. 6-The negroe of Peoria are very much excited over the occurrence at Spring Valley and the prospects are that a body of them will go there tonight to offer their services to the Sheriff.

She was drunk, however, and did not make much headway. Near Third street she became hopelessly entangled in the lines and hitch-straps and the horse was reined up to the curb.

Officer McKenzie discovered her lying in the wagon in a beastly drunken state and took her to the police station, where she made some of the rest of the night hideous with her yells and curses. The horse, which was supposed to be the property of the woman, was put in a stable.

A short time later the owner of the rig came to the station in a state of mind, but was relieved from his trouble when the horse and wagon were restored to him.

Hydrophobia: Cause and Effects.

Hydrophobia: Cause and Effects.

(Vogue:) So great is the popular dread of hydrophobia that a slight derangement of the dog's nervous system is often mistaken for symptoms of rabies, while a dog in convulsions, in an epileptic fit, or stricken with apopulary may be shot as mad—particularly if it be hot weather—before there is a chance of determining the nature of his disease.

A dog may have a fit from overexertion in the heat of the sun, from neuralgic pains, or from toothache, from meningitis, excessive fright, parasites in the nose or brain, acute ear disease, or from the distress of being lost in a large city or, if a female, of being deprived of her whelps. Recently it has been shown that mental distress has the power to give a dog diabetes. It stands to reason that so sensitive an animal should never be unduly excited.

On no account allow one dog to see another in a fit. The suffering dog should have his head wet and should be kept for a time in a dark, quiet place, free from all excitement. In most choses of convulsions a small dose of bromide of potassium will do great good. Hydrophobia, considered as a canine disease, is decidedly a misnomer. The proper term for canine madness is rables. The rabid dog has "no fear of water." On the contrary, he craves it, and unless paralyzed he has no difficulty in swallowing it. Rables is a specific disease of the nervous system. In all cases there is an intense inflammation of the brain and spinal marrow, ending in a loss of function, which is a result common to inflamed glands, The inucous glands of the stomach and bowels, the liver, the pancreas, and the kithelyed but the solider of with blood but the solider. bowels, the liver, the pancreas, and the kidneys are all more or less injected with blood; but the salid glands are kidneys are all more or less injected with blood; but the salit glands are especially affected, and t secretion of saliva is greatly increased. There is the furious or maniacal form of rables and the paralytic. The paralytic is known as dumb rables.

Absolutely typical cases of either form are as rare as is the disease.

Epileptical convulsions are due to an irregular discharge of the nerve cells. They occur unexpectedly, are of variable duration, and the spasms are of two kinds. A prolonged muscular contraction is called tonic spasm. Following the tonic spasm are the clonic spasms, which consist of alternate contraction which consist of alternate contraction and relaxation. The dog, like the hu-man subject, will froth at the mouth and bite the tongue. Epilepsy may be hereditary or may be due to teerhing and worms.

Apoplexy differs greatly from epilepsy. The convulsions are not prominent; the pupils of the eyes are either contracted or dilated; there is long-continued unconsciousness and more or less Meningitis, so often mistaken for rables, is very different still. The temperature is very much elevated, which it is not in rables; the dog snaps, but shows no tendency to bite, and there is no particular bark and howl combined women should be very careful not to shows no tendency to bite, and there is no particular bark and howl combined although the dog's voice is high pitched. Phrenitis is a simple inflammation of the brain. It is sometimes a complication of distempers, and is the only discorder which resembles rables. It generally occurs in the hottest weather. The dog cannot propagate objectively.

order which resembles rables. It generally occurs in the hottest weather. The dog cannot propagate phrenitis by salivary inoculation.
"Hydrophobia in human beings," says a writer, "results from accidents of a nervous order, sometimes mortal, sometimes curable, according as they derive from disorders analogous to tetanus (lockjaw) produced by a wound or from purely mental disorders." According to Dr. Caffe, "spontaneous rabiform hydrophobia is the only rables that exists, and that is a moral rables." Before M. Pasteur's system was invented about nineteen persons annually were officially reported to have died of hydrophobia. Now, strange as it may seem, the number of persons who annually report themselves bitten by rabid animals averages from fifteen hundred to two thousand. Rables is a rare disease, rarer today than in the past, and hydrophobia is more or less a form of hysteria.

Were there less talk about it it would be better for the community. A little more knowledge of our nervous system, a little less ignorance of the dog's, and we shall be far more likely to escape hydrophobia entirely than to die from it or to be saved by inoculation.

Singing by Menials Forbidden (London Illustrated:) It has been de-

Chondon Illustrated:) It has been decided in a county court that "servants have no right to sing in the house where they are employed.". Of course, when a member of a family is ill and noise is forbidden, as was the case in question, this seems reasonable enough; but when there is no illness the decision seems a hard one. There is no greater proof of content and (ilterally) harmony, in a household than singing. Any one who goes about his work and sings, we may depend upon it, likes his work. It may be a pity that we cannot select their songs for them, but that is a minor matter. What seems so strange is that the law which forbids this innocent carolling within the house permits the most offensive noises to be made outside of it. In many quiet streets the strains of the hurdy-gurdy are heard after 10 o'clock at night, when delicate children are gone, as it is vainly hoped, to rest and the victim of fever has fallen into his first sleep. It is all very well to say that if there is a sick person in the house you may send out and stop the thing; but before that can be effected the mischlef is done. Moreover, it is not every householder that has a man-servant, and no woman has ever yet stopped an organ grinder. The only method of doing away with these pests is to fee the policeman on the beat to keep the

Now that we are such good friends with Italy would it not be possible to persuade the Italian government to keep these peripatetic musicians at home? Proper Use of the Bicycle. (Philadelphia Press:) Dr. Champon niere says that women will find the wheel a perfect means of exercise. He sternly condemns the idea of bicycle racing for women. "Scorching" by racing for women. Women should be very careful not to do too much at the start. The lessons at first should not be too long or too frequent. No long rides should be taken, and no climbing should be done except on the gentlest gradlents.

A long time should be taken to habituate the muscles to the new exercise, and even after she is inured to the exertion the woman who contemplates a series of long rides should enter a course of gradual training.

The golden rule for the female bicyclist is moderation. Fast riding not only requires more energy, but is too great a strain on the heart.

"Little Dears."

"Little Dears."

(London Queen:) Little dears are those girls whose whole nature is of that sweet helpfulness which makes them like daughters to the old, like mothers to the young, like sisters of charity and mercy to all who need help, or comfort, or sympathy, or solace. They give help where help is needed, but they neither interfere where they are not wanted nor command where they are not consulted. Others take possession of your body and bones, and in their kindness reduce you to slavery. They deny you the exercise of your own free will, and question the soundness of your judgment when you presume to pronounce and make an effort to decide. If you want their assistance you must pay for it with obedience; for they do not understand the help of an aid, only the arbitrariness of a benevolent despot anxious for the good of his friends and subordinates, but resolved that this good shall be featured and patterned according to his desires and his only. The little dear who comes with you on your expeditions, helps you to settle into a new house or to uproot yourself from an old one, is of a different mind your expeditions, helps you to settle into a new house or to uproot yourself from an old one, is of a different mind from this. She understands how to give help, and does not want to exercise command. She wants to be the extra hand, the supplementary pair of feet, the stronger back, the less easily fatigued nerves and muscles; but she does not seek to be the head to ordain the will to rule, the one arbitrary authority from whose flat is no appeal. She is the little dear, the unselfish, practical, sympathetic and helpful kind, and as such brings comfort to all with whom she comes in contact.

An Expensive Fabric.

An Expensive Fabric.

"Among the many novelties of the season is a wonderful material called 'cloth of glass,' one kind made entirely from filaments of spun glass, and another with a warp of glass and a weft of silk," says the Comtesse de Champdoce in Vogue. "The inventor—a Frenchman, of course—anticipated a great future for this material, but its weight and cost are both against it, the pure glass material being $25 a yard. On the other hand, it is so durable that it will last a lifetime, and it can be cleaned by merely wiping it with a damp cloth—a quality, however, which is hardly likely to be a recommendation to those women who delight in frequent changes of toilet, and the only resource left to them will be to turn their 'glass dresses' into handsome sofa cushlons or chair covers when they get tired of them. The idea of using minerals for the manufacture of tissues is by no means new, for in Russia a very handsome material is manufactured from the fibres of a peculiarly-filandrous stone from the Siberian mines. By some secret process it is shredded and spun into a fabric which, although soft to the touch and as pliable as silk, is of so resisting a nature that it never wears out. When dirty it is thrown into the fire, and when red hot plunged into cold water, whence is emerges absolutely clean."

conditions satisfact to the vectors of the conditions of the carly adjournment in order to attend the exercises in the encampment tent. All members of the board were present when the president's gavel fell, and this is what they did:

The Finance Committee approved bills amounting to $1157.06 and the same were audited and ordered paid. They include salaries for July, and the following principal items: Water Company, water pipe, $54.69; electric lights, $234.75; street sprinkling, $215.20.

The question of a drinking fountain for the park was laid over.

J. D. Cowan petitioned for a change in the license ordinance, so that he might operate a wheel of fortune at $2.50 per day, instead of $50 per month, but the request was denied.

Use of Seventh-street Park after August 23 was granted to the Free Methodists.

An ordinance was presented prohib-

Ose of seventursteer Pair the August 23 was granted to the Free Methodists.

An ordinance was presented prohibiting deposits of loose hay, as a protection measure against fire, which, after reading, was referred to Committee on Ordinances.

Various official reports of the routine order were presented, and on motion referred to the Finance Committee.

Attention of the Trustees was called to the fact that the board will meet on next Monday as a board of equalization, and continue to sit daily until its work is completed.

A question raised by the County Surveyor with reference to record of the recent change in South Front street was referred to the Town Attorney for report at the next meeting.

Marshal Dexter was granted extra help during encampment, after which the board adjourned.

NOTES ABOUT TOWN.

The school election upon the proposi-tion of a special tax of $1500 for the South Side school house practically carried by default yesterday, but seven-ty-eight votes being cast in a district containing fifteen hundred. Of these forty-three favored the tax and thirty-five opposed it, so the new building is assured.

TOTAL ORANGE SHIPMENTS. The total orange shipments from Southern California up to July 27, as reported in The Times yesterday, were 7553 car-loads. For the week ended August 3, as reported today to The Times by Acting Secretary Frost of the Southern California Fruit Exchange in this city, the shipments were forty-nine carloads. This brings the total shipments of oranges from Southern California to East-ern markets up to that date, 7602 car-NEW YORK ORANGE REPORT.

NEW YORK ORANGE REPORT. A letter was received today at the office of the Southern California Fruit Exchange in this city from Charles E. Joralemon of No. 103 Barclay street, New York Mr. Joralemon is the New York broker of the Southern California Fruit Exchanges; what he says has, therefore, an immediate bearing on the orange industry. He writes from New York under date of August 1, and says:

"Yesterday a cargo of summer Sorrento oranges arrived by the steamship Werra, of fine quality, but it was almost impossible to get a fair bid for the fruit. It was very beautiful for this season of the year, and packed in the height of style. They were withdrawn at 31.60, and afterward an effort was made to sell them at private sale at that figure.

"On Tuesday next (August 6,) the cargo the steamer Neustria will be sold, consisting of 5205 packages, half boxes and wholes, Rodis and Sorrentos. It is possible that the prices on this cargo will be a trifie better, but there is no demand at all for these late Italian oranges.

"The two cars of Riverside oranges will be a trine better, but there is no demand at all for these late Italian oranges.

"The two cars of Riverside oranges sold today averaged about $1.75 per box. Therefore, you will see by this that your prices are as good for less fancy packages, as for theirs. These low prices will, no doubt, make a very severe loss for the late foreign importations. It must be very gratifying to you to know that your late oranges, such as Mediterranean Sweets, are bringing prices above these fancy summer foreign oranges. As to St. Michaels of large sizes and similar fruit, you are getting double the price of the foreign. I trust that this comparison may stimulate you so as to raise in future years late oranges that will average a good size. I purchased yesterday for a party large-sized St. Michaels at $3.55 per box. The smaller sizes went very low, comparatively."

ORANGE FREIGHT RATES. Here are a few facts which the Southern California orange-grower should get into his head and keep there for future if not immediate use. They will show him to what an enormous extent the railroads of the United States handleap him against the Mediterranean orange-grower. At first glance it would look as though the United States railways were subsidized by the Mediterranean steamship companies. That would be wrong, while at the same time it would be so nearly right that the average orange-grower would have to take a powerful microscope in order to distinguish the difference between the two. Here are the facts:

The freight on's cargo of oranges by sea from any Mediterranean port to. New York or any other port in the United States Atlantic seaboard is 32 cents a box. There are times when the freight per box is less than this, but an average of the present year is the amount stated, 32 cents a box. The import duty of the United States government averages 22 cents a box. This gives a total of 54 cents a box for freight and duties. At that cost oranges can be shipped from any port on the Mediterranean to New York or other United States Atlantic seaport. The cost of freight on a box of oranges from Southern California to New York is 90 cents. In other words 54 cents a box from the Mediterranean to New York is 90 cents. In other words 54 cents a box from the Mediterranean to New York is 90 cents. In other words 54 cents a box from the Mediterranean to New York is 90 cents. In other words 54 cents a box of oranges can be sent all the way from Naples, Italy, to New York for including 22 cents a box duty, while it costs the Southern California orange-grower 90 cents to send a box of oranges to the same market. There is something else besides this. The Mediterranean box of oranges weighed as much as the Mediterranean one the freight on each box of oranges from Southern California box does. If the Southern California box of oranges from Southern California box of oranges from Southern California woul GRANGE FREIGHT RATES. Here

Southern California box Gos. I tensessee Coal and Oordage shares advanced weighed as much as the Mediterranean one the freight on each box of oranges from Southern California would be not less than $1.15 a box as against 54 cents a box from the Mediterranean, United States duties included. The actual difference in favor of the Mediterranean grower is 61 cents a box rated at California-box weight.

Now this is of itself a great profit to the Mediterranean grower. He need not make one cent of profit off his fruit, he is content to take the profit which the railroad companies of the United States provide for him and permit him to enjoy. Viewed from this point of view, and it is the point of view which the question must be viewed from; it is a subject of grave considered is a content to take the profit on the Southern California or ange-grower. Let all very well to take about rail rates and water rates; the only question to be considered is or ange-grower. Let them get in the point of the southern California man pays freight on omarket outside of the railroads or get the railroads or understand the situation. Harder problems than than the neet on solved before no age. The Mediterranean man has beneand the situation. Harder problems than that have been solved before no age. The Mediterranean man pays freight on 5000 miles only. Yet the latter has been also miles of a haul; the southern California man pays freight on 5000 miles only. Yet the latter has been according to the railroads to understand the situation. Harder problems than that have been solved before no may more than twice the amount per box the Mediterranean man has, than that have been solved before no more than twice the amount provided the situation may be carried into the courts, but it is generally believed that the Zante currants will be classed as a grape and therefore subject to importations into the United States the Treasury Deport of the court, but it is generally believed that the Zante currants will be classed to the country this year will be

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—The wheat speculators received their inspiration at the start from the firm tone of the foreign advices. Liverpool quoted ¼d advance, Paris 56/10 centimes and Berlin ¾ mark higher at the opening. The effect of these markets was to make sales of September wheat possible in some instances at 68%, but buyers at that price were in a minority and heaviness soon became the most prominent characteristic of the trading. The market received the support of a good deal that was bullish in connection with the week's inovement from all exporting countries. Russia was reported to have shipped only 2,320,600 bushels last week and India 328,000 bushels. The quantity on ocean passage shows a reduction since last week of 3,840,000 bushels, and the world's available stocks, according to Bradstreet's, decreased 3,941,000 bushels, without taking account of the stocks on the Pacific Slope in this country, returns not being reported. A belief in a spring-wheat crop of not far from 200,900,000 bushels was quite generally expressed and did much to keep bullish sentiment in check. September wheat closed %c lower. Corn opened unchanged and became weak. Later in the day it developed in the demand for spot corn for shipment was very good. The closing weakness in wheat encouraged some selling again near the end which left the price at a decline of %c for September. The oat market was fairly active, September. The oat market was fairly active, September closing %c lower. The Mrs. Snively, mentioned in the divorce suit brought by Rev. Thaddeus A. Snively of St. Chrysostom's Church, Chicago, is a resident of Santa Barbara, being owner of one of the Crocker cottages in which she lives. Divorce proceedings, according to a recent telegram from Chicago, have been commenced by Mrs. Snively's hsuband on the ground of desertion. The wife in this case has a suit now pending in the Superior Court of this county for divorce charging the Rev. Mr. Snively with cruelty.

GOD'S WAYS ARE BEST.

Over barren wastes and dreary deserts. His one aim was to tell all people of God's goodness, justice and mercy. His entire outfit consisted of a lamp, which he used to light at night in order that he might study the law of God as written in his sacred books; a cock, which served him instead of a watch, to announce to him the rising dawn; and an ass on which he rode.

Once after a long journey across the desert the sun sank beneath the horizon, night came swiftly on, and poor Akiba knew not where to shelter his head or where to rest his weary limbs. At last, almost exhausted, he came near to a village.

He was glad to find it inhabited, thinking that wherever human beings dwelt, there also dwelt human love and sympathy. But he was mistaken. Here and there, at this place and that place, he humbly asked for a night's lodging, but not one of the unfriendly people would keep him. Worn out, he was at length compelled to seek shelter for the night in a neighboring wood.

"It is very hard, very hard," said ter for the night in a neighboring wood.

"It is very hard, very hard," said he, "not to find a friendly roof to protect me from the inclemency of the weather, but God is just and whatever He does is for the best." He sat down beneath a sheltering rock, lighted his lamp and began to read the law. He had scarcely read a chapter when a violent storm extingushed the light. "What." he exclaimed, "must I even be deprieved of pursuing my favorite study? But God is good, and whatever He does is for the best."

He stretched himself on the bare earth to get, if possible, a few hours sleep. He had hardly closed his eyes when a fierce wolf came and killed his cock. "Alas! alas!" cried the astonished Akiba, "my watchful companion is gone. Who will henceforth awaken me to the study of God's laws? But God is just—He knows what is best for us poor mortals."

Scarcely were the words out of his

God is just—He knows what is best for us poor mortals."

Scarcely were the words out of his mouth when a terrible lion came and killed and ate his ass.

"Is there to be no end to my misfortunes?" exclaimed the lonely wanderer. "My lamp, my cock and my poor ass, all I have are lost! Wee is me, a poor outcast, without shelter or possessions! But praised be the Lord, whatever He does is for the best."

He passed a sleepless night, and at sessions! But praised be the Lord, whatever He does is for the best."

He passed a sleepless night, and at break of dawn went to the village to see whether he could procure any beast of burden to enable him to pursue his journey. What was his surprise not to find a single individual alive! It appears that a band of robbers had entered the village during the night and killed its inhabitants and plundered their houses.

For awhile Akiba gazed on this most singular occurrence in silent amazement, then light breaking upon him, he lifted up his voice and exclaimed: "Thou great God, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob! now I know by experience that poor mortal men are short-sighted and blind; often considering as evils things intended for their good. Thou alone art just and kind and merciful. Had not the cruel inhabitants driven me from their village I should have been slain with them. Had not the wind extinguished my lamp the robbers would have been drawn to my retreat and murdered me. I see also that it was Thy mercy which deprived me of my two companions, that they might by their noise give notice to the robbers where I was. Praised be Thy holy name, for ever, and ever!"

Nineteenth Century:) Buda-Pesth has for me an invincible attraction, and when on the morrow-a warm bright day—I was at last permitted to install myself in the shade high up on one of the balconies of the Hotel Hungaria, overlooking the Danube, I experienced one of the most agreeable sensations that I recall. Here the ample breadth of the stream diminishes the force of the current, and the Danube passes majestically under the two imposing bridges, which hide its course where it bends far below beyond the town with the dimensions and the appearance of a stream opening out into the sea. In front frowns the ancient and lofty fortress of Buda, which formerly held Hungary abject and tremballing under its cannon, and the burg, formerly imperial, where watched the implacable eye of the conqueror. Both fortress and burg, however, are to disappear forever.

fortress and burg, however, are to disapear forever.

A new royal chateau is going up near by, which will take the place of the old yellow barracks, which serve now as a dwelling for the King of Hungary is this capital, finally recovered from the age-long domination of Austria. Below, the life of the river is unceasing; and the whole warm, brilliant, animated picture is most enlivening. Buda-Pest, the life of the river is unceasing; and the whole warm, brilliant, animated picture is most enlivening. Buda-Pest. The very idea names an idea which is big with the future. It is synonymous with restored liberty, unfolding now at each forward step; it is the future opening up before a growing people. Whole districts of the capital will one day be rebuilt and reappear under a fresh aspect, and this immense meeting point between the East and the West adds daily to its power and its attractions. Never have I seen in any capital the signs and advertisements more strenuously insistent, upon the use of the national tongue. All that I noted were in the Hungarian language, save one dodd exception, the words entreprise depompes functores, in good French, as if the word funcgres were not the least French of the tongues spoken by the gayest of nations.

Women at Billiards.

(Philadelphia Ledger:) A quarter of a century ago few ladies indulged in billiard-playing. The billiard-room was reserved for the men of the house, and reserved for the men of the house, and for the male guests for whom hunting was wearlsome and the drawing-room unattractive. But today there are many country houses, both in this country and abroad, where the ladies themselves have asserted their rights to billiards and a billiard-room for themselves. In France, where billiards is almost universally played, the game has become extremely popular in higher feminine circles. The Princesses of the English royal family have contributed much to popularizing the game throughout related courts in Germany. Among the crowned heads who play billiards may be mentioned the Dowager Czarevna, who is very skillful at the game. Queen Margherita of Italy is very fond of retiring with her court ladies to her billiard-room, believing the exercise of the game has a beneficial effect in retarding her tendency to stoutness. Princess Leopold of Bavaria, the daughter of the Austrian imperial pair, is reported to be a very graceful player, and in her Munich palace she and her children have many interesting tourneys in the afternoon hours. The Queen Regent of Spain was, in her girlish days, a splendid handler of the cue. for the male guests for whom hunting

MIDSUMMER NUMBER OF THE TIMES.

On the 15th of August The Times will ssue a unique special Midsummer Number, describing Los Angeles and Southern California in the season of utmost warmth, and under the highest conditions of vegetable growth and fruit production.

It will be a number redolent of summer and breathing of the fruits. flowers and grains that grow in our prolific soil,

This issue will differ in essential particulars from any before issued by The Times. The peculiar charms of the country-charms which never fade, but grow brighter with the passing years will be set forth with fidelity: and our aim will be to make the numher as valuable in its contents as it will be attractive in letter-press and

It will be a triple sheet of 36 pages and in its contents will be embraced dequate and accurate descriptions of the towns and cities of the south, with records of progress in each.

The seaside and mountain resorts will receive particular attention, with the especial object of showing strangers what summer life in Southern California actually is.

City, village, suburban and country homes will be truly pictured and described for the benefit of distant readers and intending residents.

"How Things Grow" is a subject which will be fully treated and re-liably partrayed.

A volume of up-to-date information about the country will be given, and many new topics will be exploited, and old ones newly treated.

The commercial, business and building progress of the city and country will be shown.

There will be a special and elaborate account of the important oil development in this city, with a trustworthy description of the numerous openings for the application of enterprise and the investment of capital.

Other interesting features of the southern country will be presented in the Midsummer Number. We guarantee a fine issue, a numerous edition, and one of the best of the many creditable papers for which the Times office

Fell from a Window.

A three-year-old boy, son of Mrs. Lewis, who recently came from San Francisco, fell from a second-story widow in the Freeman Block at Sixth and Spring streets, at 5 o'clock yester-day afternoon. The child was playing in a chair near a window on the Sixth-street side of the building. A screen was in the window, but in some manner this fell from its place as the child chanced to lean against it, and the child and the screen were precipitated to the sidewalk below, a distance of about fifteen feet. Dr. E. A. Clarke was called, but at first examination it was impossible to learn how badly the child was injured. Its head was a good deal swollen where it seemed to have been bruised.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

In Ruction-Eight Street Electric LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.-(To the Editor of The Times.) Mr. Quinton feels outraged because I have used, purely in a descriptive way, the term "selfish Silurians," in referring to the gentlemen who are protesting against the proposed use of Eighth street for an electric-car line. Mr. Quinton has good street-car facilities over other people's streets, and, being satisfied himself, he doesn't care whether people living farther out are served or not. That's silverian.

There is but one country in the world, where the man who objects to street care finds public sentiment with him, and that is China. It is evident, however, that congeniality, on what I leniently hope is but one single point, is not going to allure Mr. Q. (no pun) to transfer his allegiance from America to the Flowery Kingdom. Let me take up Mr. Quinton's arguments seriatim.

First—That there are already lines on both Seventh and Ninth streets. Rejoinder: Neither of these lines reaches the country beyond the park, and it is that part that is chiefly interested in having the proposed road built.

Recond and third—That Eighth street is the only driveway to the park. Rejoinder: That, leaving Orange street entirely out of consideration, although it is a main feeder, the many curves and bad grades on Eighth street already divert almost all the vehicular through traffic to either Seventh or Ninth street, notwithstanding that both are occupied by car lines and that Ninth street, notwithstanding that both are occupied by car lines and that Ninth street, notwithstanding that both are occupied by car lines and the China throughfare. The protesters themselves tacitly recognize this when every one of them who owns a cornor lot faces it on the cross street. This maneuver, however, has the advantage of giving them three times as much frontage (sideage) to tick with. One of the most vigorous kickers has a strip several hundred feet long on Eighth, but only ten feet deep.

Fourth—The majority are against it. This is simply a question of fact. The protesters represent about 1000 to the man who reclines

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6, 1895.—(To the Editor of The Times:) In view of the Editor of The Times:) In view of the many comparisons made between Southern California and Florida by various newspapers, especially those in the East, and generally prejudicial to this State, I beg to submit a copy of a letter received today from my agent in Zellwood, Orange county, Fla., where I had the misfortune to invest in an orange grove some years ago. Further comments are, I think, unnecessary. The letter reads as follows:

"You can hardly understand, without being here, how completely our country sary. The letter reads as follows:
"You can hardly understand, without being here, how completely our country is broken and ruined. Our newspapers have persistently lied on the brighter side, when there is no bright side, and no blessings in disguise, at least that those who live here can see. Half the bearing trees are killed absolutely and entirely. The other half are making growth from the ground. We all planted vegetables, and made a good crop, which brought the growers in debt for freight. One misfortune of our location is that we can't keep our vegetables for any length of time after maturity; they will rot, either in the ground or out (ex-

any length of time after maturity; they will rot, either in the ground or out (excepting sweet potatoes), and in two months after it is ripe our corn is too full of weevil to make bread. The vegetables are all gone now, and actual want and suffering are staring hundreds in the face, for whom there is no employment that will bring money. Very many have moved away, and nearly every day sees the departure of one of more families. There is absolutely no sale for property at any price. To give you an idea, a grove was sold in Orlando, under foreclosure last week, ists may buy up the best of them, and perhaps make a good thing of it, for when Florida oranges come again they will bring blg prices. The old growers have neither the money nor the courage to rebuild, although barring another freeze, there will surely be money for those who do. There seems nothing left for us to do but to wait, and hold things together the best we can until fortune

GARDENA, Aug. 4, 1895.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Permit me to thank you for placing before the public the condition of the sickening nuislic the condition of the sickening nuisance known as "Nigger Slöugh," which is a mehace to all the country in and around Gardena, and, in fact, it is farreaching; it is smelt at Compton. Long Beach and Wilmington. Several cases of sickness have already developed from it, and I am satisfied it something is not done to abate said nuisance, that some kind of arrepidemic will follow, for it is even worse than you picture it; but we hope, through the help of your valuable and fearless paper, to get at the parties that are responsible for it, and I see that Dr. Davisson, the president of the State Board of Health, says in this morning's paper that the Board of Supervisors have power to proceed legally and have it abated. Why don't they act? A long-suffering people are awaiting their action. What are they elected for if not to protect their constituents in such cases as this? They owe it to the people to act at once.

Now the France of the sufference.

let alone by oil men hereafter, as all efforts so far to develop oil south of Second street have been failures. Four wells have been abandoned, at a great loss of cash and labor in the territory south of First street. With this question settled the district above alluded to is bound to be occupied by fine residences, and the company that has the foresight and enterprise to put a railway through from Pearl street to Orange and up Bixel to Fourth, Arnold or Third, and thence west beyond Westlake Park, will have a better thing than paralleling Seventh and Ninth streets, ENGINEER.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—(To the Ed-or of The Times:) Under the heading too of The Times.) Under the heading of "Poverty and Free Trade" you give in today's Times an extract from the American Economist which is very misleading. The amounts given as those "expended" in 1882 and 1893 in the relief and management of the poor of the United. Kingdom are the amounts levied under the name of poor rate, certainly, but they include county or borough rate, highway rate, school board rate and others. From Whittaker's Almanac for 1893 I quote, "The actual relief to the poor for the year ended Lady day, 1891, amounted to 58 66 per head of, the population, while the sum levied as poor-rate during the same period was equal to a rate of 108 9%d per head." The best evidence to take is the number of persons actually relieved at the cost of the rate-payers and their proportion to the population.

Wanted: Microbes and the New

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—(To the Editor of The Times:) It is really surprising that the medical frater surprising that the medical fraternity has so long given credence to the theory that disease is produced by microbes, while it is well known to the scientific world that low forms of iffe never attack healthy tissues; they are scavengers, and, like birds of prey, are only attracted by decaying or dead matter. The daily Times need not worry about the microbes, they will not attack anything possessing so much vitality as that newspaper exhibits every morning.

The new woman, like the microbe, is a beneficent creation. She did not come till she was sorely needed, and when she has succeeded in removing the virus of everywhere-abounding iniquity, and cleared the moral atmosphere, which has become stifling with abominations too numerous to mention, she will, like the microbe, be seen again only in her true light as the helpmeet for man.

The significance of the report that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company has leased a number of oil-tank cars for hauling crude petroleum northward is seen in this Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco:

Before many weeks all the locomotives on the local system of the Southern Pacific in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, and probably many on the main line, will be burning petroleum instead of 'coal. The experiment will be made and, if successful, oil will be used permanetly. H. E. Huntington, Superintendent Fillmore and H. J. Small, superintendent of motive power and machinery at Sacramento, recently made a trip to the southern part of the State, one of the principal objects of which was to observe with what degree of success the Southern California Railway has adopted petroleum for fuel. As a result of their observations, the Southern Pacific. is preparing to follow the example of the Southern California Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Ex-Congressman William J. Coombs of New

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Ex-Congressman William J. Coombs of New York, one of the government's directors of the Union Pacific, is in the city. He is on a tour of inspection of the Union Pacific system for the purpose of obtaining symficient information to enable him to agree with the four other government directors upon some-feasible plan for a fair settlement of the road's indebtedness to the government. In speaking of the prospect of the road, he said:

"With good management the Union Pacific ought to experiencec great prosperity but there are some serious mistakes which will have to be rectified before it can be placed on a sound financial footing. This overhonding and overcapitalization have shown their evil effects. The road has got to get down to a business basis before it can be operated with profit and in a manner that will permit the payment of its obligations.

"I am greatly encouraged on account of the improvement in business and equally so on account of the settlement of the dispute over the receivership of the Oregon Short Line. That matter is still in the courts, but you can rest assured that the Oregon Short Line will never be taken from the Union Pacific system. If the Oregon Short Line were to be placed under a separate receivership it would be a serious blunder for those roads and fatal to the lines in the Middle States. It would divert large streams of through business to the lines in the north and south and Utah would be left on a sidetrack instead of on a main line."

BURLINGTON COMING WEST.

SPOKANE (Wash.,) Aug. 6.—A special from Starbuck, Wash., says: The Burlington railway is coming West and there are reasons for the belief that it is coming in a hurry. A new route, running nearly midway between the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific, through a wild and unsettled conutry, is now being explored and surveyed with all possible haste by the engineers of the company, who are working many miles south of the routes usually considered available for the Burlington road. The engineers are well supplied with surveying apparatus and evidently are anxious to get to work as quickly as possible owing to the shortness of the season on the Rocky Mountain slope. From one of them it was learned that they propose to locate a line up the valley working east toward the Wyoming line and probably crossing in the northern part of Fremont county opposite the National Park unless a better route through the Rockles can be secured by crossing into Southern Montans.

The Improvement Association Tolls All sorts of things were discussed at the regular Tuesday evening meeting of the Northwestern Improvement Association in Bouttier Hail. Chairman Davies of the Standing Committee on Streets announced Messrs. R. D. Scriver, W. A. Stratton, M. M. Gillespie and J. A. Craig as his associates. Chairman J. A. Craig of the Committee on Street Railways appointed Messrs. J. L. Slaughter, J. Mills Davies, J. C. Harvey and B. W. Bartels to fill out his committee.

W. A. Stratton of the School Committee stated that the grounds of the Alpine-street school would probably not be enlarged at present, but those of the Castelar-street school will be. It is feared that the Second-ward schools will be the last on which the work of enlargement will be commenced. In reference to the Santa Monica Electric Railway, J. A. Craig reported Mr. Clark of the Pasadena and Pacific Company to have promised that a track should be laid as far as the city limits within thirty days after the regrading of Beaudry avenue.

The association is anxious that the jog in the Main-street sidewalk just south of the Plaza Church should be straightened out. The City Engineer has prepared a plot showing that the little brick saloon projects nine feet, leaving only four feet for the throngs of passers-by. Messrs. M. M. Gillespie, J. L. Slaughter and L. Bouttier ware chosen to confer with the propenty-owners, to see if they would sell the aericow strip of land to the city at a peisonable figure.

Mr. Stratton complained that the Sipet Superintendent's office is so crowded with work that it will be at least sixty days before that official can begin the assessment-on Beaudry avenue. Mr. Stratton was appointed a committee of one to try to hurry things up.

THE SECOND DAY OF THE SAN DIEGO RACES.

Slater of Arisona Developed a Gait-McCrea Redeemed His Record-A kinock-down With a Fist-Other Sporting Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—(Special Dispatch.) The second day of the bicycle meet developed fast time, although there was much more wind. Slater, the Arizona record breaker, showed better judgment today and won the quarter mile and five mile handicap in regular Ziegler fashion. McCrea redeemed himself in the mile open, finishing like Foster at San Bernardino. deemed himself in the mile open, finishing like Foster at San Bernardino, rods ahead of all. Yeoman got a fall through another's carelessness. The attendance was smaller than yesterday's. At 3 o'clock the big race of the meet was started with Holbrook and Kitchen on the tandem. Slater got a fast start, Lacy caught the tandem and then came McCrea, Hatton, Slater, Ulbricht. At the half Ulbricht was way back and never caught up. Hat-way back and never caught up. Hatton set up "baked" haif way down the homestretch. Then the way McCrea came home blowing like a porpoise was proof to all that he is Southern California's best rider. Lacy at the last eighth let out all he had up his sleeve and passed Slater, finishing a yard ahead but fifteen yards behind McCrea. Hatton held fourth as Ulbirloht was way back. The time was 2:08 1-5, though there was much wind from the ocean.

The half-mile scratch class A. was run in two heats. In the first heat were J. A. Stanfer, W. A. Taylor, M. M. Cooke, J. T. Frazee, J. H. Chandler, H. B. Cromwell.

The last quarter was as pretty a finish as ever seen here. It was anybody's race till the last eighth pole, when "Old Hoss" Taylor out-sprinted Cromwell, who held second, though Cooke pressed him hard and got in ahead of Fraze. Stanford was fifth; time 1:05.

The second heat of the half-mile, class A, was contested by William Yeoman, H. W. Cobb, Canby Hewett, William Vaughan, F. J. Sexton, H. Ritter, H. E. Bundy, Bundy of Santa Ana won his first track race of the year in this heat. The second position was almost a dead finish between Hewett of Pasadena, Yeoman of Los Angeles and Vaughan of Otay, who finished in that order. Sexton was fifth and Cobb sixth. The judges couldn't decide on second place, but allowed the first four to qualify for the final heat.

The best quarter-mile ever contested in this part of the State was the one on today's programme. Six feet from the spe Ulbricht was a sure first and McCrea second. A foot farther, McCrea second. The "Flying Dutchman" foot third. A blanket would have hidden fill three. Hatton, as usual, sat up half way home, but got fourth. Long was fifth and Castleman sixth; time 0:31:5. S. Nineteen men started in the mile handlap, class A, with Hewitt, Taylor and Cromwell on the soratch and shouts as Vaughan and Frazee came all the way down the stretch even, but Vaughan won by ten inches. The judges from their poor position in the house sudges stand, could not see well and gave

The final of the half-mile class A brought out Bundy, Taylor, Cromwell, Hewett, Yoeman, Vaughan and Cook. The start was slow on account of wind. The last quarter was very fast, Hewett, on Castleman's wheel, sprinted on the last hundred yards, winning by two lengths. Cromwell was second, Taylor third, Yoeman fourth; time 1:12. This was another awful close finish. Most of the racing men return home tomorrow. The officials were the same as yesterday except the referee, F. W. Jackson occupying that position with honor. This evening the racing men were given a banquet by the local club.

The Social Evil Question Discusse by the Police Commission-Mini ters' Communication Filed.

Contractor Robb Will Forfeit His Deposit — Bids for School Sup-plies Received Yesterday— Health Officer's Report.

The session of the Police Commission yesterday was not marked by any incident startling or unusual in its nature. In spite of the resignations from commission which have been filed of late, a quorum of the board was present to transact business. The hearing of the sensational charges against Sergeant Smith was deferred for one week. The social-evil question was touched but not handled by the board. The communication upon the subject from the city Ministerial Union was "filed."

"filed."

The special School Euliding Committee refused yesterday to accede to the request of Contractor Robb, that his check for $1300 be returned to him. The check will be forfeited. John Rebman was awarded the contract for the buildings which Mr. Robb refused to build.

At the Courthouse yesterday a ripple of excitement was caused by a lively row in the Township Court. The Board of Supervisors was in session and busily auditing demands, besides transacting other business. Department Two was running double time, and an enormous amount of work was disposed of during the day.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.

The Social Evil Question Handled

The Board of Police Commis met in regular session yesterday morn-ing, Commisioners Barham, Field and Pirtle being present. At 10 o'clock the members of the board assembled in the Mayor's private office, where they remained in secret session for fifteen minutes. Upon concluding this con-ference, the doors were opened and the regular business of the commissioners was proceeded with.

ference, the doors were opened and the regular business of the commissioners was proceeded with.

The charges preferred against Sergeant Smith, of the Police Department, at the last meeting of the board, accussing him of insulting with indecent remarks, the wife of Mr. O'Connor, a citizen of Los Angeles, were taken up by the board. Sergeant Smith was present, with a number of witnesses, whom he proposed to use in proving his innocence. The complainant, Mr. O'Connor, was also present, but requested of the board that the hearing of the complaint be deferred until next Tuesday, as a number of the witnesses by whose testimony he expected to establish the guilt of the sergeant, are out of town. Mr. Smith objected strenguly to a postponement of the trial, declaring that his own witnesses had been engaged at some expense to himself, and a postponement of the matter would involve an expenditure of money which he did not feel called upon to make. Commissioner Field favored the immediate hearing of the complaint, expressing himself as opposed to delay of any sort in such a case as the one under consideration. Commissioner Barham, however, insisted that, in justice to Mr. O'Connor, he should be allowed sufficient time in which to produce the evidence he desired to submit before the board. It was at length decided to postpone the hearing of the charges until next Tuesday, at which time Mr. O'Connor promised to have the witnesses in the case present. The cierk then proceeded to read a communication from the City Ministerial Union, which had been referred to the commissioner Barham picked up the little paper and fondled it tenderly. It strikes me," said Mr. Barham, "that there is a sort of vagueness in the wording of this thing. Has the Council sent along no sign posts with the document?" Silence religned for a few moments after Mr. Barham's speech, the members of the board evidently feeling that the elephant which had been thrust upon their hands deserved were careful treatment. Mayo' Rader appressed his position in the mat said Commissioner Barham, "I move that the communication be filed." And filed it was.

A communication from the Council, stating to the commission that the lease of the branch police station in Boyle Heights is to be discontinued, was filed. The aplication of Capt. Janes, who describes himself as a resident of the "Tenderloin" district, asking permission to arm himself with consceled weapons, "to-wit—a six-shooter and a bowie knife," was granted. The report of Chief Glass for the month of July was received by the board. The ceport states that 472 arrests were made during the month, 239 convictions were obtained, and money to the amount of $2047.23 was received from various sources of revenue.

Commissioner Barham introduced the matter of using a covered wagon for patrol purposes, declaring that the pen vehicle now in use by the department is a relic of barbarism, and a discovered wagon for the purposes desired, the matter was referred to a committee consisting of Commissioners. Tield and Barham to investigate and report upon the subject at the next meeting of the board.

The report of the committee appointed to investigate the matter of special stars for special officers was read as follows:

"Your committee appointed to insure into the disposition of Police stars, beg leave to report that we have ramined the books of Police Scererary Cottle relating to this matter and approve the manner of keeping his coounts. We recommend the calling is of all numbered stars not in use by regular police officers, and the issuing in their stead of special stars, said special stars to be so marked as to readily describe the occupation of the rearre."

Commissioner Field, in connection with the report of the committee, gave bed to the committee of the committee, gave bed to the committee of the committee of the committee appointed the next meeting of the committee of the committee appointed to the rearre."

OUT OF POCKET.

hundred-dollar Deposit.

The joint committee of Councilmen and members of the Board of Educa-tion having in charge the construction of the new school buildings, met in special session yesterday afternoon to consider the petition of Mr. Robb asking that his check for $1300 be returned to him, he having discovered that his bids on the Gates-street and San Fedio-street schools are very much too low for a reasonable profit upon the contract. The bid of Mr. Robb on the Gates-street school is $6944, and on the San Pedro-street school is $6944, and on the San Pedro-street school for $8812 and the San Pedro-street school for $8812 and the San Pedro-street school for $7502. The difference in the bids is thus seen to be $4500. Evidently Mr. Robb's bids were too low and meant a loss to the contractor, if insisted upon. The question, of course, was upon the forfeiture of the bidder's deposit of the $1300. No member of the committee was anxious to take the initiative in declaring against Mr. Robb, but it was plain to be seen that his case was hopeless. "I dislike to see Mr. Robb lose his money," said Chairman Munson, "but we owe the city some consideration in the matter and I do not see how or by what right we can return Mr. Robb's money to him." Superintendent of Buildings Strange also expressed himself as opposed to returning the check to the contractor, stating that the affair, in its present condition, is curtailing expense upon the city for which Mr. Robb is alone responsible. Without a formal motion to that effect, it was decided to accept the bid of John Rebman upon the two school buildings, and this action practically means the forfeiture of Mr. Robb's $1300, now in the hands of the City Clerk. Mr. Rebman was present during the session of the committee, and promised to have the buildings completed at the expiration of the time originally allotted to Mr. Robb. The contract for the work will be approved by the Council men and members of the Board of Education inspected yesterday by the Board of Education inspected yesterday the school sites offered in the Third Ward. No recommendations will be made, however, as a result of the survey, none of the lots being considered satisfactory.

The bids for school supplies for the coming year were received and opened yesterday by the Board of Education committee having the matter in charge. Secretary Dandy will tabulate the bids, which, in their present condition, resemb for a reasonable profit upon the con-tract. The bid of Mr. Robb on the Gates-street school is $6944, and on the

THE COURTS.

O'Dea Makes a Lively Time for the Court.

It is not often that a court of justice is disgraced by a scene like that which made a temporary disturbance in the Township Court yesterday afternoon. It was at the close of the farcical proceedings of Mrs. Bridget O'Dea against Charlie Kelly, the nine-year-old boy who engaged in such vigorous quarter-starf play with a broomstick when the old lady attempted to take away the apples he had stolen.

The charge of assault with a deadly weapon was absurd in itself, and each fresh bit of evidence in the case accentuated the ludicrous vindictiveness which caused the arrest of a nine-year-old child on a criminal charge, when a sound thrashing would have best fitted as a punishment of his offense.

When the evidence was all in, and it was clearly shown that all there was in the case was that a naughty little boy had stolen some apples and had struck the elderly woman who tried to take the When the evidence was all in, and it was clearly shown that all there was in the case was that a naughty little boy had stolen some apples and had struck the elderly woman who tried to take them away from him. Deputy District Attorney Williams rose to make the argument for the prosecution, Judge Young interrupted him and declined to hear the argument, as too much time had already been consumed over a case which he would dismiss without further delay.

had already been consumed over a case which he would dismiss without further delay.

Upon this, O'Dea sprang up in a violent rage, and, banging the table with his fist, protested loudly against what he termed a most unjust decision and unfair treatment. He violently asserted that it was impossible to get justice in the courts of this country, and, pointing to the child defendant, threatened that the next time the case came into court he himself would be the defendant. He was sharply called down by the judge, and Mrs. O'Dea added to the confusion by a series of howls and lamentations, as she struggled to bare her arm and get off her jacket that she might show her bruises. Constable Yonkin tried to quiet her, and another constable selsed O'Dea, who was still threatening and abusing the court.

The Judge finally ordered both to be taken from the courtroom, which was done at once. When the tumuit was quieted a little, O'Dea was brought back, and Jüdge Young, after a quiet and dignified reproof in which he stated that the insult was regarded as being to the court and not to himself personally, fined O'Dea the sum of $50 for contempt of court, with the alternative of fifty days in jail if he failed to pay.

Mr. Williams then requested O'Dea native of fifty days in jail if he failed to pay.

Mr. Williams then requested O'Dea to apologize for the insult he had offered the court, but the wrathy little Irishman declined with much emphasis, insisting that he meant every word of what he had said, and that he never would pay the fine, preferring to carry the case into the higher court. Judge Young refused to remit one penny of the fine, and gave O'Dea until 10 a.m. today to make his appeal if he wished, failing that, he must either pay his fine or go to jail.

he departed, breathing forth threaten-ings and slaughter.

TIRED OF LIFE. Miss O'Sullivan Looking for a Place to Die.

Miss O'Sullivan, a somewhat eccer descent, who resides in the convent of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart, has grown tired of living, and wishes to seek her heavenly home. With this object in view, she sought the gloomy halls of the Courthouse yesterday afternoon, and confided to the janitor and elevator man that she was seeking a place where she might commit suicide in a legal and respectable manner, and pass away in peace.

However conductive the shades of the Courthouse may be to all descriptions of legal suicides, there was nothing that seemed to fit this particular case, and the woman was referred to Sheriff Burr for advice and consolation. To him she poured forth her woes, the principal sorrow with which she was afflicted being that she had "lost the first rolling of the eyes in dying."

Being inconsolable for this deprivation, she wished to ascertain if there might be a safe, easy and legal way of committing suicide. The kind-hearted Sheriff assured her that if she would return on the morrow, he would see what could be done about the case, and so dismissed her to her home under the guardianship of one of the deputies.

Miss O'Sullivan was brought up five months ago for examination as an insane person, but was released. In all probability the unfortunate woman's final home will be in Highland.

AVALON (Catalina Island.) Aug. 5.— (By Homing-pigeon Tatters, of the Catalina Carrier-pigeon Service to The Times.) After the rush of Saturday and Sunday comes a lull on Monday which is very grateful. The Falcon left the wharf this morning at 4 o'clock in order to land business men in Los Angeles shortly after 8 o'clock. This, it is understood, will be a regular Monday-morning feature during the month.
The Hermosa leaves at 7:25, the regular hour.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Frank Wiggins, when asked last night what he thought of Catalina after twenty-four hours of meditation on her charms, replied in a tone that spoke volumes: "It's just simply immense, that's all I can say."

Mr. and Mrs. Modini-Wood, who are making their first visit to Catalina, are so delighted that they have sent for the two babies and will tarry indefinitely.

M. C. Adler of the London Clothing Company is spending his vacation here, accompanied by his wife, and pronounces Catalina the ideal place. Mrs. Adler is a cousin of the Misses Jastro of Bakersfield, who are pupils at the Mariborough school in Los Angeles and are spending a part of their summer vacation here.

W. B. Wilshire and family, G. C. Bartell and family, H. Best and wife, all well-known people of Los Angeles, arrived by tonight's steamer and are at the Metropole.

An Appropriation Made for the Exhibit at Atlanta.

The Board of Supervisors congregated yesterday in regular session and disposed of such business as needed attention, even in this ficiliday season. The application of P. F. Carton for license to sell liquor at San Pedro was granted and the bond approved, upon motion of Supervisor Hanley.

Upon motion of Supervisor Field Indigent Inspector T. J. Stuart was granted leave of absence from August 12 to August 25.

Upon motion of Supervisor Hanley County Surveyor E. T. Wright was granted additional assistance in preparing assessor's maps, six draughtsmen at a salary of $75 per month, two draughtsmen on the main maps at $100 per month and one copyist at $2,50 per day.

Upon motion of Supervisor Wood-Judge Waldo M. York has rented the Gano cottage, known as Lookout Cot, on the cliff beyond the pavilion, for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Stowell, Mrs. H. E. Durkee, Misses Georgia Yerby and Hasel Edwards are camping at Avalon and taking their meals at the hotel. Dr. and Mrs. Wetherbee of Alhambra left for home this morning, accompanied by Mrs. Milbank Johnson, after spending ten days at the Island Villa. Mrs. Johnson will return later in August.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Duffin of Los Angeles and Miss Atwill of Toledo, O., are visiting Mrs. C. Worth at the McDonell cottage.

WITH THE ANGLERS.

Mrs. Gail Borden landed thirty-two

Mrs. Milbank Johnson, Mrs. Witherbee and Miss Keeney of Alhambra caught fifty-four mackerel between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock a.m., in Avalon Bay. Of this number, Miss Keeney landed twenty.

Miss Donnell, Miss Brown and Mr. Wilson took 125 mackerel and rock bass from the bay at one catch. Later in the day Miss Donnell distinguished herself by pulling in an enormous albicore.

J. Neale Plumb caught sixteen yellowtalls round about Silver Canyon the other day, the largest of which weighed thirty-two pounds. Tomorrow, before the sun rises in the rosy east, Mr. Plumb will leave on a four-days' fishing expedition to San Clemente, accompanied by Dr. Johnson, Stuart M. Beard and J. Fred Blake as his guests. Some phenomenal catches will probably be the result of this trip. Beard, the mascotte, is sure to make a great haul, as he wears round his neck the left hind foot of a graveyard rabbit, plucked in the dark of the moon—the sure talisman of good luck. The party-including guides and boatmen, will number ten, and the Fleetwing, Capt. McDonell's yacht, has been chartered by Mr. Plumb for the occasion.

AT CAMP BANNING.

A large number of people went down to see the Whittier boys drill yesterday afternoon. The camp is double its usual size, and consequently much more pretentious than ever before. Superintendent J. E. Cofin is spending a few days there getting things in running order and then Assistant Superintendent Dr. Coffin will preside, assisted by the capitains of the seven companies, numbering 356 boys. The tents are arranged round a hollow square, each tent accommodating one company. Straw bunks, covered with sacking line each side of the tent, and a pillow, pair of blankets and comfort is allowed each boy. The mess tent is back of and outside this square of tents, and not far away is the kitchen, where dinner was in course of preparation by the boys, and smelled very appetising, indeed. Fish chowder, potatoes, ham and peach fritters were being prepared by the young cooks with a dexterity and skill that was astonishing. One tent is occupied by the little boys, two of whom, Tony and George, are the police of the camp—little chaps 8 years old and standing 3 feet 9 inches in their camp shoes. Of course these bables have committed no crime, but somehow the poor little waifs have drifted into the motherly arms of the State school, where they are being trained and cared for in a manner that is luxurious compared with their former mode of life. The drill is a most interesting feature, the band of seventeen pieces and the drum corps of twelve pieces making excellent military music. As the visitors boarded the launches for the homeward trip, the cannon fired a parting salute, the boys doffed their hats and waved a kindly farewell, and lifted their voices in a rousing hip-hip-hurrah, led by one of the officers, which was answered by the raising and lowering of the flag from the graceful launch Nador, to the owner of which, E. L. Doran and his estimable wife, the Times correspondent is indebted for the pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Vald Schmidt of Los Angeles celebrated their twentieth wedgeles celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary yesterday by making a trip to Catalias with a party of invited guests on board the Falcon, which was chartered for the occasion, and reached Avalon about 2 p.m., returning this morning at 4 a.m. A special dinner was served the party last evening at the Grand View Hotel. Those enjoying this novel celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. F. Schmidt and family, Mrs. G. L. Schmidt and family, Mrs. G. L. Schweng, Dan Althouse, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bloch, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryson, E. AVALON (Catalina Island,) Aug. 6.—
(By Homing-pigeon Henrietta B. of the Catalina Carrier-pigeon Service to The Times.) The Hermosa landed 200 passengers at Avalon last night—the largest number to arrive on Monday yet this season. If people continue to pour in as for the past few days next Saturday night will see the largest throngever known at Catlalina. But the accommodations are ample. The canvas village is like India rubber and can expand sufficiently to take in 1000 people if pand sufficiently to take in 1000 people if necessary, so let no one miss the opportunity of coming for fear of being left out on the pebbly beach all night with nothing but the starry heavens for a tent-for such a thing cannot happen. Andrew Mullen and family came over last night for a week's stay at the Metalest of the starry heaven.

Andrew Mullen and family came over last night for a week's stay at the Metropole, accompanied by M. L. McComack and two daughters, who came from St. Louis to Los Angeles to reside about a year ago. This is consequently their first visit to Catalina and they express themselves as charmed with the place. The entire party paid a visit to Camp Banning, where the Whittler boys are encamped, this afternoon. Mr. Mullen is one of the board of directors of the State school.

W. F. George and wife of Sacramento, N. A. Rideout and wife of Marysville arrived last night in search of a cooling breeze in exchange for the sultry climate of the interior. They will remain at the Metropole for some time. Mrs. A. E. Chipman, Miss Bessie Chipman, Miss Marie Kinsey of Los Angeles went to swell the list of arrivals at the Metropole Jast night.

Tucson was well represented at the big hotel by Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Jacobs, Miss Hida Jacobs, Albert Steinfeld and family. Pueblo, Colo., sends Mr. and Mrs. A. Adams and Alva B. Adams; Chicago, William E. Best and wife; Pasadena, Theodore Martin and niece, A. Vallette; San Francisco, William B. Wilshire, Misses Jennie and Doris Wilshire and nurse; Denver, G. C. A ROMANTIC PAIR ARRESTED.

Mike Campbell and Mary Calkins, the romantic couple from Yavapai county, who left home two weeks ago and have since camped out in pleasant nooks in the hills, have been discovered. Worse than that their romantic career has been brought up short by unappreciating and unsympathizing minions of the law and they are in jail. A telephone message from Mesa to this city brought word that he couple were at Mesa, and inquiry was made if they were still wanted. A dispatch was sent to Sheriff Ruffner of Yavapai and he replied directing their arrest. This was telephoned to Mesa. Yesterday morning the lovers were brought in and taken to jail. Their career has not been sanctioned by a marriage ceremony, and Calkins, father of the girl, has said that he does not want the girl to marry Campbell. Should Calkins continue as wrathful as he was a week ago he can make matters very serious for Campbell. The girl is only 14 years old, or under the "age of consent." Campbell is not yet of age. The girl expresses little fear of her father.

important case has come to light An important case has come to light in Justice Johnstone's court. Jesus Osuno was brought before him for stealing a $28 saddle belonging to a neighbor, named Robleros. Osuno's story was that he had borrowed the saddle and pawned it at a second-hand store. He needed the money, and had used it to buy medicine for his children who were dangerously ill. The owner of the saddle was away and was not expected back for some time. The borrower hoped to redsem it before the return of Robleros. Unfortunately the owner returned prematurely. Osuno's reputaion is good and his story is believed.

late, but as he has his full share of small boys, he was not surprised. He, however, warned the boys of the effects of partaking too heartily of fresh figs. To his surprise the boys declared that they had not eaten heavily of the fruit. Next morning early the boys visited the tree to note further depredations, and caught the thieves. They heard a victious and warning whisz among the branches, and got from under. In the tree were found two rattlesnakes, one of them in the act of swallowing a fig. Mexicans say that rattlesnakes are fond of sweets, and are proficient tree-climbers.

CAME BACK AND SURRENDERED.

However laudable it may be from a standpoint of justice, Peralta, the murderer of a range foreman at Lochlel, named Acevedo, has done what is, for his own neck's sake, a very foolish thing. As already told by The Times, he shot Acevedo in cold blood in the presence of the murdered man's family, emptying every charge in his revolver in Acevedo's body. Being within easy riding distance of Mexico, he was not long in getting across the border. As he had not voted in Arisona and was a Mexican, he could easily have claimed Mexican citizenship. Instead of that course, he came in Saturday and gave himself up to the authorities. He will not be at large again in a hurry. His preliminary hearing has been set for next Saturday.

NOGALES, Aug. 5.—(Regular Correspondence.) Saturday's issue of the Ossis was devoted largely, in its editorial page, to Hon. Sam Webb, Collector of Customs here, and the Vidette, an opposition paper, in which Mr. Webb is interested. The hardest reflections made were within a parenthesis, which said. "In fact, United States Collector of Customs Sam F. Webb, (who is the real owner of the paper and uses his official position to 'influence' men into subscribing for a paper they don't want and never read, and in advertising in its columns when all money paid for such advertisements is a dead loss except as blackmail to the custom-house gang) was plainly told so when he 'made a roar' to some of the Council about it." The paper was not long out until one journalist was after the other—with the law. Allen T. Bird, editor of the Ossis, was arrested, charged with criminal libel. He walved examination and was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500. He went to jail pending the securing of his bond, which will doubtless soon be obtained.

THE INCORPORATION WINS. The first of a probable series of legal attles between the merchants' organbattles between the merchants' organization and the new incorporation of Nogales, resulted in a victory for the city. Friday morning the Town Councilmen, Mayor and Clerk, attorneys and several leading merchants went up to Crittenden for the first case, with Judge Wright of Tucson representing the incorporation and Judge Williams for the merchants. The battle was short and sharp, and His Honor, Judge Vanderlip, decided for the city in all the cases, and fined Joseph Pascholy, one of the merchants, in the sum of $50. The case will undoubtedly be appealed.

(Tcuson Star:) The Star published a communication yesterday referring to the subject of jury trials in criminal cases in justice's courts, and the general result. It seems that there are but few or no convictions which renders the criminal side of our justice's courts very largely a farce and a very expensive one at that. Where lies the fault? And the remedy? Simply in this: Our good citizens should not refuse or try to avoid jury duty, as is the case; again, the constables should see that good citizens are utilised for jury duty, and at all times avoid the professional juryman who is always around where he can be most easily found by an officer.

(Willcox Stockman:) The leasing of the public lands to the cattlemen of hy the Territorial press will, we are of the opinion, not find a great deal of favor with the rank and file. The object of such leasing is more a favor to the large cattle concerns who can take large bodies of land, with their watering places, and by fences or other means completely exclude the smaller holders, who are not in trim to thus lease the lands. We must not forget that Arizona is a cattle country made up chiefly of smaller owners, and none of whom, in the humble opinion of this journal, would agitate or appreciate the new plan.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 6.—(Regular Correspondence.) "Harmony" is the watchword among San Diegans in their effort to secure their own city water system. A call has been issued by Philip Morse, president of the Chamber of Commerce, W. E. Howard, president of the Board of Trade, and George W. Lynch, president of the Midsummer Association, asking the members of these organizations, together with the Mayor and Council, to meet on Thursday and give their opinion as to whether or not the people want their own water system, and, secondly, if they are in a mood to vote bonds for such a system, leaving the question of purchase to the Council. At this meeting factional and party interests will be excluded in the effort to secure an unbiased public opinion on the question at issue. The people are beginning to realize that their lack of harmony in promoting this needed public improvement of a municipal water supply is retarding the growth of the city to the detriment of the general welfare. They realize that prosperity cannot be achieved by the continued working of factions at cross-purposes.

Encampment Notes.

of the Past and Pasadena Day

SANTA MONICA. Aug. 6.—(Special Correspondence.) Camp Fort Fisher, at Santa Monica by the sea, was astir at early hour yesterday morning. . It was the first day of the encampment were in vogue. The majority of the old boys who wore the blue, and fought for arable, are not so spry as they were thirty years ago, but they obeyed the ficer of the day with remarkable ntness. There were few laggards in the camp, especially about mess-time, and the general esprit du corps that was manifested by the grizzled veterans, proved that the ravages of time have not dampened enthusiasm.

The remark is credited to Stonewall Jackson that "Soldiers can live on enthusiasm, but horses must have oats."

Could the shade of the lamented Stonewall have looked upon the encampment of the Southern California Veterans' Association at Santa Monica yesterday, he would have been satisfied that the old, soldiers assembled there had subsistence to last for a long time, for there was an abundance of enthusiasm. There was alkewise a plenteous supply of more substantial things for the inner man. No veteran nor veteran's wife or daughter, entered upon the duties of the day hungry, and none went to bed when "taps" was sounded at 10 p.m., with an appetite unappeased.

The camp ground with its groups of snowy tents, gaily bedecked with flags and bunting, together with the brilliant colors of the banners and insignia of the various posts and other organizations, scattered among the green ime have not dampened enthusiasm.

and bunting, together with the brilliant colors of the banners and insignia of the various posts and other organizations, scattered among the green of the eucalyptus grove, makes a beautiful picture. It is, indeed, a picturesque spot, and one well calculated to afford comfort and pleasure to the inhabitants and visitors to the tented city.

The greater number of the veterans assembled there are accompanied by their wives and families. The large number of ladies in camp is especially marked, and were it not for their presence, it goes without saying that the men who saved the country would miss many of the comforts of home while enjoying camp life and fighting the war over in a reminiscent way. Woman's handlwork is seen everywhere about the camp—in the furnishings of the tents, in the decorations and in the cooking of the messes. Most of the old boys have not forgotten how to cook their bacon and beans, but they yield the palm to the ladies when it comes to dishing up delicacles which soldiers on the retired list are not averse to eating.

It could not be learned definitely ventered.

It could not be learned definitely yesterday how many campers were on the ground, as only a small per cent had registered, and the busy camp officials had not yet found time to count noses. Up to 4 o'clock in the afternoon about 200 veterans had inscribed their names on the official roster. The register of the Ladies' Auxiliary also contained a goodly number of names, but statistics of the attendance will be uninteresting until completed. Quartermaster J. B. Summons reported that practically all of the 350 tents werengaged for the encampment, but all of the tenants had not yet arrived.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA DAY. It was Southern California day in amp, and every G. A. R. post and kindred military association in the Southern California jurisdiction was southern California jurisdiction was represented. They were not there only for the day, but most of them for the entire term of the encampment, and each succeeding day, according to the present outlook, will see the number of attendants augmented.

Commander Dill was a busy men, many details of the encampment demanding his attention. It is true he had a corps of able and willing assistants, but there was plenty of workstants, but there was plenty of workstants.

sistants, but there was plenty of work for all. In the first place the commander found himself handicapped by the absence of his adjutant, Comrade George Webber, who is unable to attend the encampment, on account of the sickness of his wife. The vacancy was, however, filled by the appointment of the companion of the sickness of his wife.

tend the encampment on account of the sickness of his wife. The vacancy was, however, filled by the appointment of Comrade Henry Roach, who performed the duties of the office acceptably.

The officer of the day was Comrade William Dusenbury of San Jacinto: the officer of the guard was Comrade Hartzell of Poway.

The following calls were observed: Reveille, 6 a.m.; police call, 6:30 a.m.; sick call, 7 a.m.; breakfat call, 7:30 a.m.; assembly, 8:45 a.m.; guard mount, 9 a.m.; meeting of the finance committee, 9:30 a.m.; dinner, 12 m.; assembly, 4:45 p.m.; dress parade, 5 p.m.; tatoo, 9 p.m.; taps, 10 p.m.

Although every call was responded to with alacrity and enthusiasm, as already observed, the day in camp was withal a quiet one, there being little of interest except the reunion of old-friends, making of new acquainteness and getting the machinery of camp life in motion.

The dress parade called out the first big crowd, and the old veterans, most of them clad in Grand Army uniforms, made a good showing. The dress parade was followed by the call of states, when the veterans from the several states from which they enlisted in the service ranged themselves in groups. There was a rivalry to see which State could make the best showing. Three hundred and eighty-five men responded, reperesenting nearly every State in the Union; Jowas led with 22, Ponnsylvania 16, Massachusetts 18, Indiana 14, Wisconsin 15, Kansas 14, and so on.

There was little hilarity in the camp before night fall. A good many inno-

There was little hilarity in the camp before night fall. A good many innocent prants were then indulged in, but when "taps" was sounded, the camp was soon in peaceful slumber.

PASADENA DAY.

Pasadena is more largely represented in the camp than any other locality outside of Los Angeles: "It is therefore appropriate that she should have a day dedicated to herself. That day is Wednesday, and Pasadena hospitality will be dispensed as of yore. In the afternoon there will be a reception from 2 to 5 o'clock by the ladies of John F. Godfrey Woman's Relief Corps. assisted by the comrades of John F. Godfrey Post, G. A. R. Lamonade. sherbet and other refreshments will be served with a lavish hand, but Pasadena being a strict temperance town, no "sticks" will be put into any of the soft drinks dissipanced. Comrades who have been in the habit of calling for soda or lemonate with a wink of the right optic, are autiemed not to wink the other eye is they attend the Pasadena reception for winks don't go on this occasion, as awa the official pronunciamento. In the evening there will be an enternisment in the large tent, under the programme will contain such PASADENA DAY, choice numbers as "Columbia, Dear Columbia" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," by the Harmonia Quartette; solo, "Oh, Starry Flag," by Miss Peck; "Red, White and Blue," Miss Flora Bollinger; "People's Battle Hymn," "We drank from the same Canteen" and "Sword of Bunker Hill," James G. Clark and Clark T. Havens; recitation, "Battle of Lookout Mountain," Miss Glennie Pearl; address, Rev. Clark Crawford.

Comrade McDonald is sparing no pains to make this entertainment one of the most successful events of the day.

of the most successful events of the day.

Comrade H. H. Massey will be officer of the day and A. L. Petrle, officer of the guards.

Mrs. Rose Racey, president of John F. Godfrey W. R. C., will preside at the afternoon reception.

Among the Pasadena people in camp are the following: Capt. Wakeley, Mrs. G. Downing, Mrs. J. Showalter, Mrs. M. Furman, Mrs. A. Buchanan, Mrs. C., C. Brown, Mrs. D. W. Kellogs, A. L. Peirle, A. ENCAMPMENT NOTES.

ENCAMPMENT NOTES.

Capt. J. J. Frank of San Francisco is a guest of the Southern California Veterans'. Association and is helping to fight the country's battles over at Camp Fort Fisher. A jollier old soldier never slept in the guardhouse or drew bead on a rebel. Col. Frank tells a good story about Comrade George T. Downing of Pasadena and himself. Once while out on a lark in Philadelphia they overstaid their furlough and got run into the guardhouse. That, however, was, when no foes were in sight to fight. Both saw service on many a bloody field and both were carried wounded to the hospital, where they occupied adjoining beds. On leaving the hospital they did not again meet for thirty years. About three years ago Col. Frank came from the north as a delegate to a G. A. R. meeting in Los Angeles, and while seated at a table something in the face of the man who sat opposite him attracted his attention. He made a closer scrutiny and became convinced he was gazing into the face of his old comrade Downing. He went up to him, and, grabbing him by the collar, exclaimed: "George Downing, don't you know me?" Downing wore a puzzled look for a while, then he grabbed hold of Frank and began to hug him. The two mencut up such antics and waltzed around the room so recklessly to the peril of other people's corns and the furniture, that the spectators though tit was a rough-and-tumble fight and proceeded to separate them. But it was only a friendly recognition and greeting.

Comrade Downing, by the way, is looming up as a formidable candidate for commander of the Southern California Veterans' Association for the ensuling year. He is not pulling for the Capt. J. J. Frank of San Francisco is of the Southern California Vet-

nia Veterans' Association for the ensuing year. He is not pulling for the honor himself, but his good friends are pushing him forward, and it looks as though he will be elected unanimously. An attraction that never fails to have a crowd of interested spectators and auditors around it, is Comrade W. H. Sallada's memorial monument, a pyramid several feet square at the base and about eight feet high, composed entirely of relics of the war of the rebellion, the American revolution, the Mexican, Indian and forrevolution, the Mexican, Indian and foreign wars. Seven hundred distinct relies were used in its construction, every one an article of peculiar historic interest.
There are swords, pistols, bayonets and daggers, bows, arrows, bullets and other missiles of death and destruction, each one of which played some part in making history; bits of wood and iron from famous battleships or fortresses; knapsacks, canteens and John Brown's bullet pouch, besides hundreds of other equally interesting mementoes. The strangest part of it all is that a blind man, Comrade Sallada of Santa Barbara, collected these relies and arranged them collected these relics and arranged them in their artistic design. Both of his eyes in their artistic design. Both of his eyes were torn from their sockets by a minnie ball during the terrible conflict of thirty years and more ago. That he escapade death is miraculous. His work without the aid of a ray of light marks him as a genius of the first magnitude. Each of the 700 relics used in the construction of the monument has attached to it a metal tag, stamped with a number. By simply telling him the number of any one of the 700 relics, Mr. Sallada cam describe it. There is a story connected with each piece and Mr. Sallada delights in recounting it. He always is delights in recounting it. He always is surrounded by a crowd of eager listen-

The Ladies' Apxillary held an im portant business meeting yesterday morning. There were present about sixty members. The president, Mrs. Ella F. Van Horn, made an address of sixty members. The president, Mrs. Ella F. Van Horn, made an address of welcome. Greetings were read from the department president of the W.R.C., Alta M. Comstock of Santa Cruz; Mrs. Nettle Forbes of Oakland, department treasurer, and Mrs. Eva J. French, department president of the Ladles of the G.A.R. The treasur's report showed $272.40 in the treasury. The president appointed Mrs. Julia C. Hobart, Mrs. Racey and Mrs. Georgia Hodgman as a Committee on Finance. Seven army nurses were present, namely: Mary Darling and Anna M. Lewis of Heinzelman Corps, San Diego; Margaret Hayes, Elmyra Reynolds, Adeline Miller of Stanton Corps, Los Angeles, and Martha M. Kendall, San Bernardino.

Judge B. N. Smith was on the grounds yesterday afternoon and will spend a few days in the company of his old army comrades. The Judge is a patriot to the core and is much sought after as a speaker of gatherings of veterans.

a patriot to the core and is much sought after as a speaker of gatherings of veterans.

Comrade Jake Kuhrts, the ex-fire chief, has fought other foes in his time than fire. When the blue bullets flew during the days of the rebellion, Jake was always where the fight was thickest. That is why his comrades delight to honor him. He was at the encampment yesterday.

Capt. Upham, treasurer of the Soldiers' Home, was circulating among the boys yesterday, as were several other officers of the home, and the grounds were literally blue with home inmates. The Soldiers' Home contingent is always welcome, say the veterans all.

Comrade A. L. Petrie, a Pasadena letter-carrier, is enjoying a ten-days' furlough which he is spending at the encampment with his family, and is having a good time generally. Petrie helps to whoop things up and fishes between times.

The Regular Army and Navy Union has established headquarters with J. C. C. Price of the Fourth United States Cavalry, and A. Ames of the Second United States Cavalry in charge. By special request of Commander Dill, the Regular Army and Navy Union representatives have taken charge of the colors of the carip, and will act as the special guard of Old Glory.

There was some kicking yesterday because the entertainment tent is lighted by a few big kerosene lamps only. It is probable that electric light will be substituted.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLERS ESCAP-ING ON TECHNICALITIES.

rasadens and los Angeles Elec-tric Railway Formally Deliv-ered by the Contractors — Re-vised the Specifications of the New School Buildings.

PASADENA, Aug. 6.-(Regular Cor espondence.) The case of the people gainst Confer & Robertson, who were convicted in Recorder Rossiter's court ed by Judge Smith on purely tech versed by Judge Smith on purely temperature in the verdict in the case wrote the single word "guilty," and, while there is no reasonable doubt that they meant that they considered both defendants guilty reasonable doubt that they meant that they considered both defendants guilty or they would have otherwise specified, Judge Smith holds, taking the case of "the People against Sepulveda" as precedent that the wording of the verdict is ambiguous, and that from it whether one defendant or both may be considered "guilty" cannot be determined. This is the case prosecuted by the local W. C. T. U., but the union does not intend to give up the fight and let the violaters of the 'ordinance escape. It is stated, on authority, that Confer & Robertson will be again brought before the court on a similar charge, and this time it will be seen to most carefully that no technical error of any sort shall interfere to prevent the imposition of the penalty. In the case of H. C. Werner it is stated that the offense was committed by Mrs. Werner and that the information is therefore defective and there will be another technicality, but as that ground has not been brought forward by the accused it is not thought that he will transfer the burden of the offense to the shoulders of his wife. FORMALLY ACCEPTED.

FORMALLY ACCEPTED.

The Pasadena and Los Angeles Electric Railway has been formally turned over to the directors of the company and accepted by them, and the contractor, Mr. Clark, has been compensated for his work in stocks and bonds of the company. The cost of the work, as completed, which includes the line northward to the city limits, the double tracking to Chestnut street and all viaducts and bridges, is in the neighborhood of $400,000. The work will soon be finished to the junction with the Mt. Lowe electric road, and the Santa Monica end will also be pushed to the sea. This latter enterprise is entirely separate from the Pasadena and Los Angeles electric road, and has no connection of any sort, except that of junction with its road. The operation of the electric road has been extremely gratifying to its directors, and its business has been uniformly good during the entire summer, even though there has been an unusual exodus to the beach, and the tourist travel of course very light. The patronage has been of the steady and increasing sort, which speaks highly of the satisfaction that the road has given to those having occasion to travel between the two cities.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

The school trustees held a meeting this morning and revised the specifications for the new school buildings. The petition against the proposed building for the East Side has not yet come to the attention of the board. Contracts for painting Lincoln and Grant school-houses have been let to Charles H. Sefton, and work has been begun on the former building. The school grounds of the Wilson school have been greatly improved by the removal of the fence, and it is the intention of the board to cause broad cement walks to be laid about the premises. A lawn would greatly add to the appearance of the grounds, and could be easily started in vacation time, and so cared for that it would be an attraction not only of the school premises, but of the street. Speaking of lawns, the grounds about the Public Library are rendered unsightly by the lack of vegetation. As it is, one of the buildings always visited by strangers, there should be a well-kept lawn about it.

The weeds on South Euclid avenue along the tree margins are in some PASADENA BREVITIES.

The weeds on South Euclid avenue along the tree margins are, in some places, four feet high and still growing. On North Euclid, north of Wahut, they not only grow on the tree margin, but cover the sidewalk and invade the highway. On North Los Robles and many other streets they grow rank and tall in the gutters in front of vacant lots, the owners of the property paying as little attention to the trees along the sidewalk, and the general appearance of their frontage, as if the virgin desert was supposed to reign untouched by man in the center of the city. They should be compelled to attend to these nuisances, for weedy ragged patches of street in a block spoil the appearance of the entire neighborhood, and give people a bad idea of the public spirit that prevails there.

The midsummer number of The Times, which will appear August 15, promises to collpse all previous special editions of the paper. It will be profusely and beautifully illustrated, and will set forth the advantages of this region as a summer resort and all-the-year-round residence place. It is desired that this edition should have a wide circulation throughout the Eastern States, and that the prejudice and ignorance of srangers regarding our glorious summer climate be removed through the information set forth therein. Orders for extra copies of this special number should be left early at the Pasadena office of the Times, No. 43 East Colorado street, or at the newsstands. The price is 5 cents.

Ordinance No. 215, ascertaining and fixing the amount of money necessary to be raised by taxation upon the taxable property of the city of Santa Ana as a revenue to carry on the various departments of said city for the current year, and to pay the bonded indebtedness of said city falling due during said current year, was read for the first time and, upon motion, was referred to the City Atorney. The amount of money to be raised as provided in the above ordinance is $20,-505.60. This amount will make the rate about 90 cents on the $100 worth of taxable property in the city. This rate is about 10 cents higher than last year's rate, the additional expense being in the provision of funds for the purchase of the old County Jall for city use. The money to be raised will be apportioned as follows: General fund. $113.60; street fund. $456.80; waterworks fund, $5648.76; library fund, $1366.44.

The City Attorney was instructed to commence proceedings on the first day of September, 1895, against all parties who have not put down sidewalks as ordered by the board.

The resolution resolving that it was the sense of the board to submit the matter of voting bonds for an electric light plant to be owned and operated by the city, passed May 20, 1895, by a vote of four out of the five members, was rescinded by a four-out-of-five vote—a sort of presto, change.

The president of the board was empowered to appoint a committee of two to investigate what is wanted in electric lighting of the city of Santa Ana. W. F. Lutz and W. S. Whitney were appointed as the committee.

After the allowance of the usual monthly bills the board adjourned to meet Monday evening, August 19.

POMONA, Aug. 6.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Board of Trade met last night in their rooms, First National Bank Block. There was a fair attendance of members with a better percentage of spectators present than is usually seen at its monthly sessions.

Among the matters touched upon and discussed at this meeting the two most important were the final report of the old Pomona-Covina County Road Committe and its discharge after due recognition of its long and faithful services in furthering the same to a successful end; and a reviving, as it were, of the Sewer Committee of something like a year's standing with instructions to collect up its data already gathered with as many new points as possible and with renewed efforts and energy, present the same to the City Trustees at some future session, the main idea pervading the whole discussion being to have the water-supply question for Pomona and a suitable sewer system go together.

This committee, it will be remembered, is composed of Messrs. Phil Stein, Fred J. Bmith and John Z. Packard, who made a personal visit to various neighboring cities several months ago, for the purpose of ascertaining the hworkings and cost of the sewer systems in vogue, also that after getting all the data they could a full report of the same was properly condensed and published. The sum in round numbers for what was thought would be a sufficient main with necessary laterals was $30,000.

It is beyond any question one of the necessary outlays that Pomona must make, and that, too, at an early day, in self-protection in the properly sustaining of the health of its population and guaranteeing a steady, prosperous growth as a progressive community; and as the domestic water-supply proposition is now before her people, the Board of Trade has acted wisely in renewing this question just at this juncture, for if the best results would be had, the two questions should be pushed side by side, one with the other. This afternoon a riderless horse came tearing down Second street, creating momentary consternation by its reckless pranks. When nearing the Hansler-Rutan Block, the animal took to the sidewalk and, falling just opposite one of the large plate-glass windows, would have smashed it had it not been fo

TRUSTEES OBJECT TO MARRIEL WOMEN AS TEACHERS.

The Santa Ana River Gives Up It Dead-Body of William Clark Found-The Bull Fight to Come

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 6.—(Regu-ar Correspondence.) The present Board of Education has given the public a great many surprises and seems likely to maintain its reputation in that line to the end of the chapter. Director Davidson has been applying mathematics to the teacher proposition and has discovered that 25 per cent of the women teachers are mar-ried, and he startled the session of the Board last night by introducing the following resolution:

Whereas, 25 per cent of the teachers employed in our city schools are mar-ried women, some of whom have taught for a long term of years, there-by depriving others who have qualified by depriving others who have qualined themselves to teach, some at great ex-pense and personal sacrifice, of posi-tions rightfully belonging to them. Resolved, That it is the sense of this board that for the school year of 1896-7 applications of university, normal school and high school graduates should be preferred to those of married should be preferred to those of married women.

Mrs. F. B. Daley, of the Board, who was herself one of the most competent teachers employed in the city schools, espoused the cause of the married-women so vigorously that the resolution was permitted to lie on the table. Mrs. Daley said that it offered a premium to divorce and discredited marriage, and she insisted that if married women must go that married men should share the same fate.

Just before the resolution was presented, Mrs. Anna G. Pierce had been elected to fill a vacancy in the primary grade.

The Board attempted to elect an instructor for the business department, but a deadlock resulted and the vacancy is still unfilled. W. D. Tubbs of Ontario and E. C. Lockard were the leading candidates, but no one had a majority.

There is no longer any doubt about the fate of William H. Clark, whose disappearance was announced in yesterday's correspondence. He was drowned in the Santa Ana River. His body was found this forencon, and will arrive in this city during the night or early in the morning. About 2:30 o'clock this afternoon word was telephoned from Bear Valley that the body had been discovered. Word was sent to Clark's mother, who came to the telephone and was informed that the gruesome discovery had been made this lorencon. According to the news sent from Bear Valley the past three days had been spent in dragging the Santa Ana River, but without success. Yesterday afternoon the searchers resolved to divert the stream and turned it out of its course. When the water below this temporary dam had run down, Clark's body was found in a little eddy or pool at one side of the stream, into which the current had swept it. The place at which the body was found is about three miles below Seven Oaks. At that point the trail leads across a foot-log, and it is supposed that the treacherous log turned while Clark was walking across, and he was thrown in the water below. The place is where the trail leading from Mill Creek to Deer Creek crosses the Santa Ana River. A range of mountains separates these streams, and the Santa Ana River at the point of crossing is both deep and rapid.

After a while, however, as new books were added and the library graw to some consideralble size, one was allowed to draw two books at the same time, providing but one of these books should be a work of fiction. It was understood at the time that this action was taken on the part of the trustees to circulate the more solid works and, if possible, stimulate a greater demand for them. The plan has proved a good one. And to still further help along the end in view, the works of fiction which heretofore have been in the front part of the first stack, in plain view as one entered the library, have been transferred to the back part of the second stack, where they will not be seen except by walking some distance around behind the stack. In place of the works of fiction have been put the works of blography and travel. Also the juvenile works have been taken from the second stack and placed on the back shelves of the first stack.

down between 700 and 800 feet. For the last fifty feet the dirt brought up has been a sand black with oil, so the petroleum will doubtless be reached in a very short time.

The pressure of the gas in the oil-bearing strata under the Davison well is so strong that it forced up sand until the pipes were clogged and the gushing was stopped. The pump was taken up and the sand cleaned out, and the well started work again.

A test has been made of the new green oil, struck at the Richards, Valentine & Cook well. It has not a parafine base, as was at first thought, but it is a very good oil. Its gravity is between 16½ and 16.
